

ALUMNI ADVENTURES

Explore the world with Carleton College

November 24, 2008

Dear Carleton Alums and Friends,

In the summer of 2007 we had the pleasure of taking a Baltic Cruise with over thirty Carleton alumni and friends. It was one of the most enjoyable trips we have ever taken, in large part due to the delightful company we shared. When asked if we were interested in participating in another Alumni Adventure, we jumped at the chance.

We were especially excited by the opportunity to explore Bavaria, a region we have briefly visited in the past but never by boat. Germany represents a particularly interesting combination of past and present. While Germany is certainly at the heart of the modern European Union, this cruise will also explore some of the medieval parts of the country and include the once a decade cultural and religious tradition of the Passion Play of Oberammergau.

While we are definitely looking forward to the places we will visit, the most enjoyable part of an Alumni Adventure is the opportunity to socialize with alums from across generations and learn about your lives and interests. We hope you are able to join us in June of 2010.

Warm regards,

Elizabeth Galbraith

Professor of Religion
St. Olaf College

Michael Hemesath

Professor of Economics
Carleton College