

Newman Language Scholarship

Richard T. Newman '49 and his family established this fund to encourage Carleton students to explore the field of foreign languages as a viable career option. This fund supports internships in foreign countries that utilize one of the languages offered at Carleton, including Arabic, Chinese, French, German, Hebrew, Japanese, Russian, and Spanish. For the summer 2009, following four students have been selected for this award.

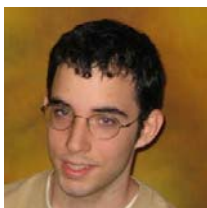

Jonathan Fraser '10
U.S. Embassy in Vienna
Austria

Jonathan will work as a full-time intern in the Public Affairs section of the U.S. Embassy in Vienna for 10 weeks. He will help organize the Embassy's 4th of July Gala, update the Embassy website, write and record podcasts for Austrian students, draft letters, translate letters, and coordinate arrangements for visiting VIPS.

Alex Gibson '10
Radio Cadena SER
Spain

Alex will intern for Zaragoza's branch of Spain's national news radio network, Cadena SER. He will work as a personal assistant to Miguel Mena (a Spanish author and journalist), putting together his program script and schedule. He will also conduct interviews in the streets of Zaragoza and will master the technical aspects of preparing radio broadcasts.

Kenneth Bendiksen '10
Photomasterskaya Magazine
Russia

Kenneth found this opportunity through an editor of the magazine, whom he met while traveling in France during Carleton's Paris Seminar '08. As a summer intern for Photomasterskaya, he will assist the creation process of each issue of the magazine - both from the creative side of developing themes and new articles, and from the technical side of layout.

Courtney Morris '10
Les Mussets
France

Courtney will live and work with Les Mussets, a 300-acre family farm operation southwest of Paris. He will not only become more fluent in the French language, but also gain a better understanding of French agriculture by helping with the myriad tasks required to maintain a farming operation such as caring for the animals, working in fields, and delivering goods to the co-op.
