HISTORY MAJORS' CAREER PREP WORKSHOP & LUNCHEON

Carleton College
CAREER CENTER

Attention history majors: Have you been worrying about the terrifying prospect that is the post-college job search? Are you wondering how to apply the skills you've acquired in History to life, post-Carleton?

Well, you are in luck!

Announcing... the History Department Career Prep Workshop!

Thursday, January 30th, 2014 ~ NEW FREE LUNCH EVENT, see below.

12:00 – 1:00 pm in Leighton 202

We are excited to be collaborating with the Carleton Career Center to bring you this brand-new program. Mike Hendel, Program Director for Recruiting at Career Center, will come to Leighton lead our first-ever Career Prep Workshop! The program will explain how to transform the skills you have collected as a History major into tools for the post-graduation job search. Learn how to turn you're historical skills into building blocks for resumes and useful talking points during job interviews. Join us for lunch and a productive hour of preparation!

This event takes place during Common Time, so free lunch will be provided. Please RSVP to Nikki at nlambert@carleton.edu, so we order enough lunches. Thanks, and may the odds be ever in your favor!

ALUMNI SPOTLIGHTS

National Council on Public History

John Dichtl '87

Executive Director, National Council on Public History
Adjunct Professor of History

Since 2006, John Dichtl '87 has been the Executive Director at the National Council on Public History (www.ncph.org), a nonprofit membership association dedicated to putting history to work in the world. He is the current president of the NCH, a consortium of more than 50 associations which serves as the voice for the historical and archival professions in Washington, D.C. Dichtl majored in History at Carleton and credits faculty such as Carl Weiner and Phil Niles for developing his abilities to think within and across differing systems. Dichtl worked as a writer and editor for the United States Senate Judiciary Committee for two years before attending Indiana University for both a Master's and PhD in early U.S. history. While pursuing these degrees, and for several years after, Dichtl worked at the Organization of American Historians (OAH), eventually serving as Deputy Executive Director from 2000 to 2005. His current public history project is IndyHistorical, a smartphone app (and website) that will provide historical tours for Indianapolis—and eventually for several cities statewide. He can be contacted by email at jdichtl@iupui.edu.

OPPORTUNITIES CONTINUED

CALL FOR PAPERS FOR TUFTS HISTORICAL REVIEW

DEADLINE: FEBRUARY 15, 2014

This year the theme for submissions to the Tufts Historical Review is WATER. Water has played arguably the most important role in human history: Early River Civilizations, the Age of Exploration, the Bubonic Plague, the Industrial Revolution, and immigration all were intimately connected to water. The Tufts Historical Review seeks outstanding articles between 2,500 and 8,000 words that explore water's historical past. All submissions must be cited in Chicago Manual of Style. Applicant's name and information (including academic affiliation and contact information) should only appear on a cover page. All submissions are due to tuftshistoricalreview@gmail.com.

“RECONNECTING THE DOTS: FRESH PERSPECTIVES ON HISTORY”

ABSTRACTS DUE MARCH 1, 2014

The History Department at Mississippi State University invites undergraduates to submit papers for the 6th annual Symposium for History Undergraduate Research (SHUR). Papers on any historical topic are welcome. Interested students should submit a proposal or abstract of not more than 500 words to Dr. Julia Osman at SHUR@lists.msstate.edu. Students will be notified about acceptance by March 15, 2014. The History Department will offset the costs of one night's lodging for presenters and provide a BBQ banquet on Friday night, but students are responsible for their own travel expenses. For more information on SHUR: history.msstate.edu/shur

SENIOR MAJOR SPOTLIGHT: SAMEERA NALLA

What is your comps topic, and why are you drawn to it?

At Carleton, I have been taking advantage of all of the South Asia history courses. I was interested in studying family planning in India after learning about the Indian Emergency (1975-77) and the fear and coercion surrounding mass sterilization camps that were used to stop India's population increase. My comps is about the failure of communication between the elite policy makers and the rural audience in family planning posters.

What are your plans for next year?

Next year, I will be taking a few physics and chemistry classes, the GRE, applying for veterinary school, and hopefully working at a humane society, veterinary clinic, or zoo!

What has been your favorite history course at Carleton?

Probably Amna's Women in South Asia: Histories, Narratives and Representation class. It's the class that made me decide to be a history major!
