

Application for Living in Reynolds House, 2009-2010

Rising sophomores, juniors, and seniors may submit applications to live in Reynolds house. Submitting an application implies acceptance of a room if it is offered.

Residents at Reynolds will be required to maintain the house's kosher kitchen and to preserve this space as a center for Jewish activities on campus. Current residents may apply to live in the house for a second year, however, priority will always be given to new applications.

If you have questions about the application process please contact Prof. Stacy Beckwith, sbeckwit/ x7033. You should deliver your application, in hard copy or by e-mail, to Stacy no later than Friday, April 3. Applications received after this date will not be considered.

Class Year:

Are you applying to other special interest houses? If yes, which ones?

Will you be off campus any part of next year? When?

Why are you interested in living in Reynolds House?

In what ways have you been involved, and/or do you anticipate being involved, with the Jewish community on campus?

Application for Living in Reynolds House, 2009-2010

What type of enhancements/ developments do you envision for the house as a Jewish communal space and resource, and how will you help to bring these about?

Do you anticipate that living in Reynolds House will contribute to your personal and/or academic growth during your years at Carleton? How so?

As a resident of Reynolds House you will be expected to contribute to keeping the public spaces (kitchen, dining room, living room, porch) orderly. Shabbat and festival preparation and clean up will be handled by larger groups of people coming in to cook, etc. but on weekdays and leading up to Shabbat, you will need to help keep the downstairs presentable so it is a welcoming space for all of our activities such as Torah Study, JSC meetings, and Hebrew Circle. Will you do this in coordination with the other residents?
