Cycling the Countrysides of Central Europe
The Czech Republic and Austria

August 27 - September 8, 2017 (13 days)
with Carleton Professors
David Tompkins and Ken Abrams
Dear Carleton College Alumni and Friends,

I am delighted to invite you to join Carleton alumni for a brand-new adventure: a cycling tour of charming towns and stunning landscapes steeped in history, architecture, politics, and fairy tale allure. This active program is bookended by two-night city stays in Prague and Vienna—two of Europe’s gems, and accompanied by history professor David Tompkins and psychology professor Ken Abrams—two of Carleton’s gems.

Imagine cycling (from 16 to 44 miles per day for seven cycling days) between atmospheric medieval towns and along country roads and winding rivers, in the company of two engaging faculty leaders as your guides to the region’s history and culture, and with the support of a tour manager to handle the logistics of your vacation while you relax, experience, and learn.

Relish the convenience of a rented bicycle, helmet, and small bike bag for the duration of your cycling days. Those who choose to skip a cycling leg can travel to the next destination in our 20-seater van. Highlights include visiting five UNESCO World Heritage sites; cycling through the Bohemia Lake District, Česká Kanada Nature Park, and Moravian villages; and evenings spent strolling through old town squares.

If you enjoy cycling and wish to experience the past and present of central Europe, I recommend that you contact Alumni Adventures today, as this program is limited to only 16 Carls and friends.

Sincerely,

Sarah Ladner Maris ’85
President, Carleton College Alumni Association

Carleton College Faculty Leaders

David Tompkins is an Associate Professor of History and the Director of the European Studies Program at Carleton College, where he teaches a broad range of courses on European history. In his own research, he specializes in the culture and societies of Eastern Europe. David spent his undergraduate years at Rice University (with stints in London, Vienna, and the south of France), and did his graduate work at Columbia University. He has lived for extended periods in East-Central Europe, including in Berlin, Warsaw, Krakow, and Moscow, and travels there regularly. A marathon runner and cycling enthusiast, David has been on extended bike tours in France, Italy, and Central Europe. He has led four previous alumni tours to East-Central Europe, including to the Czech Republic and Austria. During evening discussions, David will talk about communism in Central Europe, the rise of the far right in Europe, and the history and future of the European Union.

Ken Abrams is an Associate Professor of Psychology at Carleton College, where he teaches courses in psychopathology and health psychology. He did his undergraduate studies at Dartmouth College and received his doctoral degree in clinical psychology from the University of Minnesota. Ken taught in the Czech Republic for two years in the mid-1990s, speaks Czech, and has directed six study abroad programs in the Czech Republic. On the study abroad program, Ken teaches cross-cultural psychopathology, which examines the extent to which the etiology and manifestation of mental disorders are affected by culture and politics. An avid biker, Ken frequently does “century rides” and has biked extensively throughout the Czech Republic and Slovakia. Topics Ken plans to address during evening discussions include the political abuse of psychiatry under communism, the rise of eating disorders in post-communist Eastern Europe, the progressive historical approach of the Czechs and Slovaks to individuals with gender dysphoria, and the radical means of treating sex offenders in the Czech Republic.
What to Expect

This program is appropriate for reasonably fit people with at least athletic beginning, if not intermediate, cycling ability. It combines local sightseeing with leisurely cycling on terrain that is flat or gently to moderately rolling with some short hills. Seven of our eleven touring days will involve cycling legs, with an average daily cycling distance of about 30 miles. (Daily distances are estimated in the enclosed itinerary.) Most cycling will be on quiet roads, although surfaces may be wet or rough. If you have any questions about your ability to participate, we suggest that you visit your personal physician with this brochure in hand, and discuss whether or not the program is appropriate for you. The actual itinerary is subject to variables such as the abilities and interests of the group and local weather conditions. Our faculty leaders and tour manager know the region very well, and will assess each day’s route and brief the group in advance on planned routes and expected conditions. Some lunches will be packed and eaten (often outside) at appropriate places along our routes. There will be a support van available for those who choose to skip a cycling leg and be driven to the next planned destination, and to allow flexibility for unplanned events. Average daytime temperatures in late August/early September range from the high 60s to high 70s °F (occasionally rising to the mid 80s °F) with a chance of some precipitation. Durable, comfortable clothing, including proper cycling attire, is essential on this program. Complete pre-departure details, such as what to take with you and more of what to expect, will be sent to participants.

Prices Do Not Include: Airfare from/to home; passport and visa fees; all airport fees and departure taxes; cost of personal, trip cancellation, and baggage insurance; transportation of excess baggage; meals other than those listed in the itinerary; personal tips; gratuities to the Tour Manager; items of a personal nature, such as laundry; alcoholic or other beverages except as noted above; taxi, telephone, and fax charges; optional excursions or deviations from scheduled tour.

Passenger Cancellation Penalties: All requests by passengers for cancellations must be received in writing by Alumni Adventures. Cancellations received at least ninety one (91) days prior to departure are fully refunded less an administrative fee of seven hundred fifty dollars ($750) per person. Cancellations received ninety (90) to sixty-one (61) days prior to departure are subject to a cancellation fee equal to 50% of the total tour cost. Cancellations received sixty (60) days or less before departure are subject to a cancellation fee of 100% of the tour cost. Trip cancellation insurance is strongly recommended. (An application will be sent with confirmation of receipt of your deposit.)

Air Arrangements & Transfers: Airfare from/to home is not included in the tour cost. Group transfers between the airport and hotel on arrival and departure dates are included based on designated times to be advised. Once you have received your final payment invoice, you should book your flights. If you are considering booking your flights before this time, please contact our office first. We do not accept liability for cancellation penalties related to domestic or international airline tickets.

Prices, itinerary and leaders are subject to change. Prices quoted are based on group participation and no refunds will be made for any part of the program in which you choose not to participate.
