Lakes Orta, Maggiore, Lugano, and Como

June 25-July 5, 2021 (11 days | 16 guests)

with Carleton Professors David Tompkins & Scott Carpenter

Dear Carleton College Alumni & Friends,
I am delighted to invite you to join Carleton alumni on this active program to explore four stunning Italian and Swiss lakes with a group of 16 fellow Carls, two expert English-speaking cycling guides, plus two Carleton faculty leaders who enjoy cycling in their free time: David Tompkins, Associate Professor of History and Director of European Studies, and Scott Carpenter, Marjorie Crabb Garbisch Professor of French and the Liberal Arts.

Enjoy magnificent lake and mountain scenery while cycling and during several ferry rides. Cycle between charming towns and along country roads (from 18 to 41 miles per day for seven of the tour days). Each day, your two expert cycling guides will handle the logistics while you cycle, experience, and learn. During evening discussions, as you unwind from a day of pedaling and exploring, David will address topics in the region's history and culture, and Scott will discuss travel writing and notions of cultural identity in Europe.

Quality bikes are included (electric bikes are available), and you will stay in comfortable hotels for nine nights with just one single-night hotel stay. Hike up the Sacro Monte di Orta, a UNESCO World Heritage site. Cycle through the diverse landscapes of Lagoni di Mercurago Natural Park. Sample wines, grappa, gelato, cappuccino, chocolate, and fine local fare.

Other highlights include guided walks and independent time in picturesque towns; medieval cathedrals and churches adorned with frescoes; the imposing castle of Rocca d'Angera; the "hanging" monastery of Santa Caterina del Sasso; and the 12th-century Santa Maria di Piona Abbey, a masterpiece of Lombard architecture.

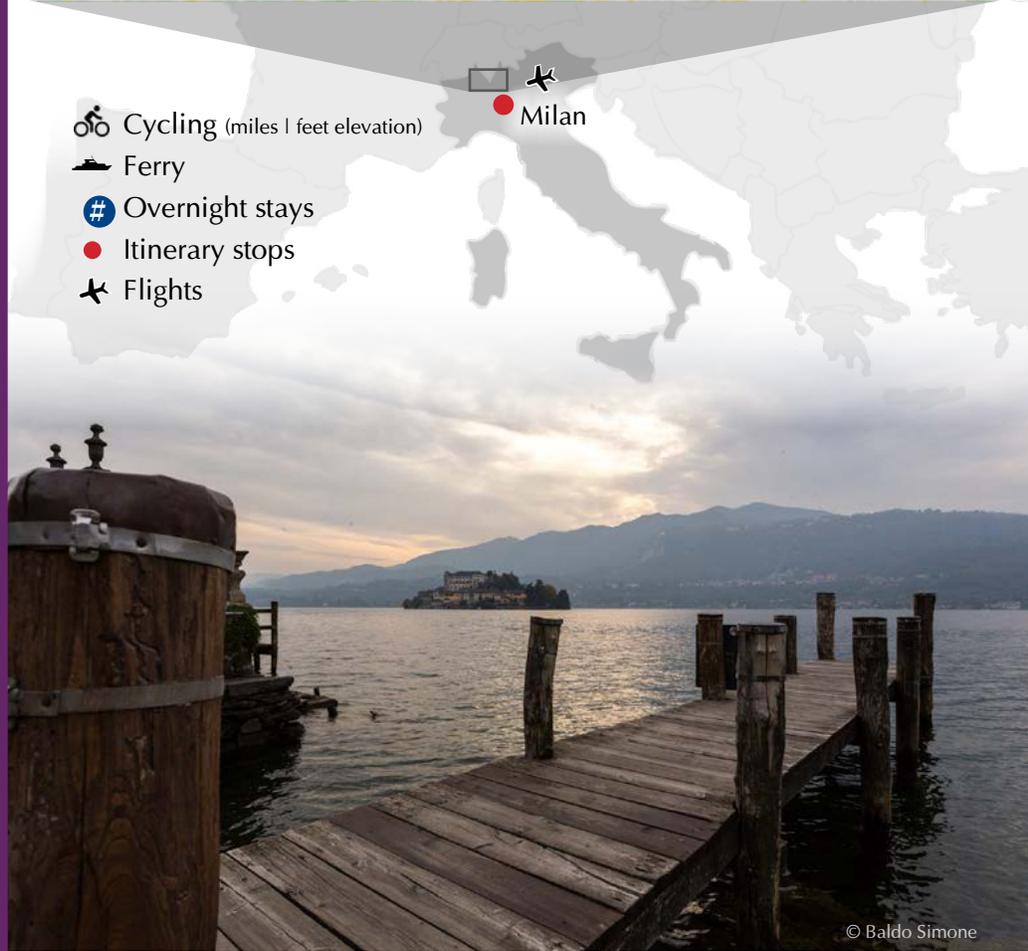

If you enjoy cycling and wish to do so along the spectacular lakes of northern Italy and southern Switzerland, I recommend that you contact the Alumni Adventures office today, as this program is limited to only 16 Carls and friends.

Sincerely,

Amy Bevilacqua

Carleton Faculty Leaders

David Tompkins is an Associate Professor of History and the Director of European Studies at Carleton College, where he teaches a broad range of courses on European history. In his own research, he specializes in the culture and societies of Central Europe. David spent his undergraduate years at Rice University and did his graduate work at Columbia University. He has lived for extended periods in Europe, and traveled there extensively. A marathon runner and cycling enthusiast, David has been on extended bike tours in France, Italy, and Central Europe. He has led four previous alumni tours to Europe, including a cycling trip in the Czech Republic and Austria. During evening discussions, David will talk about the history and culture of northern Italy, the rise of populism in Europe, and the history and future of the European Union.

Scott D. Carpenter, Marjorie Crabb Garbisch Professor of French and the Liberal Arts, is an old hand at traipsing through Europe. In addition to spending several years in France, he has accompanied students to Madrid and Berlin, taught in Copenhagen, and sojourned repeatedly in Venice. At Carleton, Scott teaches French language and literature, as well as a course in creative travel writing for the Cross-Cultural Studies Program. With five academic books under his belt (dealing primarily with nineteenth-century literature), he also engages in creative writing—most recently with his travel memoir, French Like Moi: A Midwesterner in Paris. During the evening sessions of the upcoming trip, Scott looks forward to discussions about travel writing, the role of study abroad in the Carleton education, and notions of cultural identity within Europe. Serving as a counterpoint to his younger and fitter co-leader, Scott plans to draft off the cyclists ahead of him.

What to Expect

Cycling experience and a reasonable level of fitness is required for this program, which combines local sightseeing with leisurely cycling on terrain that is generally flat or gently to moderately rolling with some short hills. Seven of our touring days will involve cycling, with an average daily cycling distance of about 30 miles. While no advanced technical cycling skills are required, at times there will be some climbs during rides; daily distances and elevations are estimated in the enclosed itinerary. Although they are no substitutes for cycling experience and/or physical fitness, electric bicycles are available at an additional cost and will assist riders on hills and enable guests to cycle together more easily. Most cycling will be on quiet roads, but sometimes there may be traffic. The majority of the road surfaces will be tarmac, but some surfaces may be wet or rough. At times you will need to cross a busy road in order to reach a quieter route on the other side. A helmet will be provided, and you are required to wear it at all times while cycling. Durable, comfortable clothing, including proper cycling attire, is essential on this program.

All participants are expected to be physically active and not be an impediment to others on excursions, to enjoy traveling as part of a group, and to be ready to experience cultural differences. If our cycling guides decide that a participant cannot join an excursion, or complete a cycling route safely or in a timely manner, their judgment will be final. Where possible, an alternate activity may be suggested; additional costs may apply. There will be a support van available for a limited number of participants who may need to skip a cycling leg in order to reach the next planned destination, and to allow flexibility for unplanned events. If you have any questions about your ability to participate, we suggest that you visit your personal physician with this brochure in hand, and discuss whether or not the program is appropriate for you. The actual itinerary is subject to variables such as the abilities and interests of the group and local weather conditions. Our two expert, English-speaking cycling guides know the region very well, and will assess each day's route and brief the group in advance on planned routes and expected conditions. Average daytime temperatures in late June/early July range from the mid 60s to low 80s F, with a chance of precipitation. Complete pre-departure details, such as what to take with you and more of what to expect, will be sent to participants.
