Name: Marcia Allen  Spouse/Partner: Still can’t fill in the blank
Address: 1551 Spring Drive  Children/Pets: Dogs: Mandy and George
Wichita KS 67205  Medications: Almost as much as my dogs
Phones: (316) 653-8626  E-mail: None yet at this address

In the last five years, I have... Moved to Wichita KS to be closer to my parents; managed a foster care reunification project and wrote a handbook on visitation; biked in Acadia; snorkeled in Hawaii. Did something every year that I’ve never done before, and, sadly, grown older.

Drove 40 miles to buy dog food.

Life lessons learned... Previous motto: "Ask for forgiveness, not permission." This was very helpful during nearly 30 years of government work. Motto is currently being revised however since Corporate CEO’s seem to be taking it a bit too seriously.

My thoughts on time and space...
No surprise here: Never "enough" time. But there can be too much space. My new yard is 5.5 acres.

Major sources of joy...
My friends, my parents, my dogs - in no particular order.

I still wonder about...
Driving 40 miles to buy dog food (in light of item #4 above) And, of course, why I am answering all these "questions."

My spirituality is best described as...
The Oregon coast.

My small acts to improve the world include... Recycling and picking up dog poop. Why doesn’t anyone want to know about the big stuff?

Do you plan to attend reunion 2003? Yes X  No  Maybe
If no, what’s your excuse? (Glad I don’t have to answer this...)

What is the best way to overcome your excuse? (.... or this)

If yes, can we put your name on the on-line attendance list? As long as it doesn't increase my junk mail.

Please return by November 1 to Carleton College, Office of Alumni Affairs, One North College Street, Northfield, MN 55057; fax 507-646-4445; e-mail ptrusty@acs.carleton.edu
In the last five years, I have...
1. Put on 5 pounds (have no reason to think it's muscle, sigh)
2. Applied for a patent (no reply yet)
3. Started to think about retirement.

Yesterday, I...
1. Tarred my roof (700 feet of it, anyway) just for jollies — to Beethoven's Square
2. Engraved my Daughter's tack box (she teaches horse riding at a stable nearby — at 14!)

Life lessons learned...
1. Study your tail off until 9PM then relax.
2. Use a real language — C++ and use Java.
3. Don't buy when P/E > 20.

My thoughts on time and space...
Too much space, not enough time. \[ \text{Space} \times \text{time} = \text{constant}. \]
I am starting to plan for the Carleton reunion in 2018.

Major sources of joy...
Pizza (still), Denver touchdowns,
The thin light of Autumn on our chamisa, hot air balloons
I still wonder about...
Why I can't remember the celestial mechanics formulae.
What happened to TAE? If Minnesota still has ice storms which coat the trees and glitter like diamonds when the sun comes out.

My spirituality is best described as...
Reformed Druid (RDNA) through and through, even though we just confirmed Jessica as a Lutheran.

My small acts to improve the world include...
Buying the Handbook of Chemistry and Physics for my Son and Daughter.

Do you plan to attend reunion 2003? Yes ___ No ___ Maybe ___
If no, what's your excuse? Ellen and I will be in Italy soaking up art.

What is the best way to overcome your excuse? Offer entertainment better than Italy does! Try bribing me.
If yes, can we put your name on the on-line attendance list?
Your suggestions for reunion activities: Eat French Fries from Gridley's Kitchen!

In the last five years, I have... Seen my kids off to college & graduate school and lived for two years a bit North of New York City.

Yesterday, I... got back from a business trip to NY and was locked out without a key but got in with help from a neighbor.

Life lessons learned... People (friends, relatives, loved-ones) are what matter.

My thoughts on time and space... got to make the most of both.

Major sources of joy... My wife & two healthy kids.

I still wonder about... all sorts of stuff.

My spirituality is best described as... growing stronger every day.

My small acts to improve the world include... trying to be kind & helpful to the people I meet.

Children/Pets: Ann & Rebecca

In the last five years, I have... spent most of my time outside the U.S. - 2½ years in Egypt and 1 year in China; back in MN as of October 2002.

Yesterday, I... my memory is getting too short to recall.

Life lessons learned... things always seem to work out OK.

My thoughts on time and space... what is this, a physics exam?

Major sources of joy... my wife and children

I still wonder about... what many of you are doing and if you have found contentment in your careers and your lives in general.

My spirituality is best described as... trying to abide by Philippians 4:4-7

My small acts to improve the world include... helping a blind piano technician manage his business.

Do you plan to attend reunion 2003? Yes _ No _ Maybe _

If no, what's your excuse? My daughter Ann is getting married on June 21

Name: Carlson, Stephen J.  Spouse/Partner: Gloria

Address: 123 Banana Street  Children/Pets: 4 grandchildren

Mail: 1234 56789001  Medications: not important

Phones: 215-467-3255

In the last five years, I have... become a Grandfather, met my expectations simplified my life, changed views, become more patient and understanding.

Yesterday, I... took my monthly piano lesson, helped out a few hours at our local Art Education center, put sandals around my house, and visited my Grandchild.

Life lessons learned... Be good and get unperished. You can’t fight bad with bad, on silence with silence. Everything takes longer than it does. Time really is quality in medicine.

My thoughts on time and space...

Some profound ideas can not be communicated with language or through logic. The essence of the physical implicate the major source of joy...

loved children, grandchildren, friends, music, health, common people, real culture, ancient wisdom.

I still wonder about...

more things than I used to. I now have fewer answers but more interesting questions.

My spirituality is best described as...

a journey, helped by sharing the enquiries of others in daily practice, many longer walks and my small acts to improve the world include...

...understand, logic and science.

Do you plan to attend reunion 2003?  Yes  No  X  Maybe

In the last five years, I have... become the Full Professor of Homiletics at the Church Divinity School of the Pacific and have just been named Dean of Academic Affairs.
Yesterday, I... wept a lot over the deaths of Owen Jenkins and John Dyer-Bennet.

Life lessons learned...
   It is possible to be appreciated and rewarded for being who you really are, wants and all.
My thoughts on time and space...
   Not enough of the first and I still feel optimistic about the Final Frontier.
Major sources of joy...
   My husband, my job, my students, my friends, my family, and the beauty of the world.
I still wonder about...
   Who else is really out there.

My spirituality is best described as... incarnational, earthy, feminist, and Episcopalian.
My small acts to improve the world include... telling my friends and the staff I supervise how much I appreciate them.
Do you plan to attend reunion 2003? Yes____ No____ Maybe X____

In the last five years, we have... moved Eric's mother, bought an abandoned stone building, helped in France & Greece, returned to Eastern Turkey, studied domestic violence in Uzbekistan (I) and started a job at the U. of Minn.

Yesterday was New Year's Day 2003. We went down to Stockholm, Wisconsin to see the progress on the renovation of the 1927 stone building we bought there. We had our kids/spouse/honey over for supper-shrimp curry, sautéed chestnuts.

Life lessons learned...

Seize the opportunity to cross your path—even when it's not perfect.

Quit when necessary.

thoughts on time and space...

Space matters—design it, don't just live in it. Time has been, for us, a combination of intense memorable experiences and indistinguishable experiences.

Major sources of joy... that make up the density of everyday life. Our children, each other and Turkey and Greece and cooking and sharing good food.

I still wonder about... most of it.

Our spirituality is best described as...

Catholic

My small acts to improve the world include... being guardian for Aunt Claraless, helping Leah tinker her greenhouse, etc.

Spouse/Partner: In June, I will likely become single again!

Children/Pets: 2 cats

Medications: Ha!

In the last five years, I have... charged jobs, changed households and re-learned the value of just being, especially with friends and family.

Yesterday, I... recovered from a hectic vacation in the Virgin Islands by attending my fabulous Sunday morning yoga class and then praving the post are meant to be shared 7 Christmas sales! with close friends.

My thoughts on time and space... are that ours are limited but also vast and not terribly clear!

Major sources of joy... nephews and nieces, work, travel, connecting with friends, old and new.

I still wonder about... how the Seniorenance Homecoming tradition got started.

My spirituality is best described as... evolving, mostly pagan.

My small acts to improve the world include... listening.

In the last five years, I have... traveled in Costa Rica, Sicily, swam with piranhas in the Amazon, almost got arrested in Bolivia, discovered single malt in Scotland, and rode a wild horse down a New Zealand mountain. But the most beautiful place I've ever seen is our summer home in Leland, Michigan.

Yesterday I... thought about today. Today I will think about tomorrow. Tomorrow I will wonder where yesterday went.

Life lessons learned... that words pack power; metaphors can heal; dreams can enlarge one's consciousness; love is not enough; and that depth and creativity require an honest encounter with suffering.

My thoughts on time and space... is that physics drives philosophy, and the Zeitgeist caught by the artist's image and given meaning by the writer's distillation.

Major sources of joy... my husband's absurd humor, the tight bonds of family, the warmth of old and new friends, the delight of my 3 children, the imagination's wonderful wit, and the ecstasy of writing and the creative process, hiking, and sweat lodge ceremonies.

I still wonder about...

What's around the next corner.

My spirituality is best described as...

Full of awe and wonder.

My small acts to improve the world include... writing healing novels.

Review of 02
Carletonbio:
Ann Cross Edmonds’ 68 lives in St. Louis, Missouri. After a childhood in SE Asia and the Middle East, she entered Carleton College. After graduating, she went to Kyoto to be housemother at Carleton House, an honors women’s dorm at Doshisha University. After marrying Pug Edmonds ’69 whom she met in Kyoto, they lived and taught there for two more years. Carrying one year old Radcliffe III, Ann returned to the Midwest USA.—University of Michigan. Second son Nathaniel was born and the family spent a year in Tokyo while Pug researched for a Ph.D. in Economics. The family moved to St. Louis, MO. Ann continued to work in early childhood(MA ’81), with refugee children and homeless children, in school age child care, and then as teacher of all sorts in the School District of Clayton. Both sons grew up in St. Louis then left to attend university and to become Classics professor(Rad) and lawyer(Nat). Both married wonderful women, and now there is a Radcliffe IV. Ann deeply enjoyed her career as mom. Various as classroom teacher, reading teacher, and now as International Resource/English Language Learner teacher, she has explored the edge between “strangers” and “community.” In her role as storyteller, writer, and teacher Ann explores changing world society in France, China, and in the United States.

Thank you for the reminder. As you can see, I no longer have the directions. Please use the above as it fits. —Ann Edmonds

In the last five years, I have... spent more time enjoying my family and enjoying life.

Yesterday, I... could hardly wait for today to come, yet today, I'm looking forward to tomorrow.

Life lessons learned... You are only as old as you feel. Love, family and friends are more important than money.

My thoughts on time and space... At no time would I ever consider going up in space - but if I can find a space I will properly manage my time.

Major sources of joy... Great Family, Nice Friends, Good Health

I still wonder about... why I did what I did after I had done it... what could have happened and what will happen.

My spirituality is best described as... a reality.

My small acts to improve the world include... Picking up after my kids, Cleaning up after the dog, Living positively and setting a good example for others.

In the last five years, I have... completed 10 years as an elected official in Sitka, completed 4 years as Chairman of the Republican Party of Alaska + a member of the RNC, served on several boards + commissions. Quit the practice of law
+ for the last 3 years temporarily moved 600 miles North to serve as the Administrator for the City of Delta Junction.

Fired up the woodstove for the first time this season.
Around here they close the schools when it hits -50 + call it a snow day.

Life lessons learned...
Life is good + very interesting.

My thoughts on time and space... we came to Delta to help the area deal with the impacts of being the site national missile defense. Its exciting being involved in a national program + having the skills + money to aid the civilian community.

Major sources of joy... having 2 homes in Alaska - our offshore island next to Sitka where ocean boating is required to get to town, and our house in Delta at the end of the Alaska Highway (mile 1422) 50 miles North of The Alaska Range, its like the area but at 50° below zero.

I still wonder about...
People who are against defending the USA from potential missile attack.
We will defend all 50 states from Alaska including the children of parents who are against national missile defense.

My spirituality is best described as...
Jesus is Lord!

My small acts to improve the world include...
Not contributing to the crowded roads in some city in the lower 48.

Divorced
Nathan, age 21 (Beloit College)

In the last five years, I have ... acquired an empty nest only to lose it 1 week later because of taking in my aging mother (therein hangs a tale requiring much more paper), entered a program called “New Directions in Psychoanalysis” that is focused on writing and psychoanalytic theory (another long story), as well as continued on in my practice and daily life.

Yesterday, I heard people’s stories, grieved at the news of my ex-mother-in-law’s death, went to an early music concert where Spanish, Arabic, and Hebrew elements (and people) combined to make incredibly joyous music (and where 3 performers did not arrive onstage because, despite visas, they were not allowed to travel to the US)

Life lessons learned .. not the kind to write in a list, and not in the past tense

My thoughts on time and space .. Not enough of either, time especially seems to speed up daily, and my own personal space is cluttered with undone tasks

Major sources of joy..are creativity/”life force” wherever I find it—talking with my son, playing with a child, walking around a small lake in Oklahoma at sunset. In dreams, in just the right words among a bunch of not so right words, in connection.

I still wonder about many things, the wisdom of being older seems to be knowing that I don’t know

My favorite quote this week: William Saroyan, “In the time of your life, live,” who describes his plays, “A play, a dream, a poem, a travesty, a fable, a symphony, a parable, a comedy, a tragedy, a farce, a vaudeville, a song and dance, a statement on money, a report on life, an essay on art and religion, a theatrical entertainment, a circus, anything you like, whatever you please,” which makes me think of life and why I enjoy a really good play. (Something that I only came to know while at Carleton, seeing plys for the first time, both on campus and at the Guthrie.)

I don’t know if I can attend this summer, it will depend in large part on my mother’s living/dying and where we are in that process.

Reunion activities: One of the best activities at the 30th reunion was a rather free-flowing group meeting of just our class, I don’t even remember the title, something about the times, but there was a rich discussion.
Our country is again in a time where big changes are occurring in how we all live together, and I wonder about how other people in my class are dealing with things that seem familiar: paranoia vs. realistic terror; xenophobia vs. pulling together; simplistic political response vs. complexity. Wars and rumors of wars. Protests. And so on. How about a good play? Or movie, with discussion after? (Has anyone in our class made a movie?)

I also really loved the music events at the last reunion—performances, dances, and so on. It reminded me of some of the best of my Carleton experience.

In the last five years, I have...

* Taken several years off from work to take care of my wife, Mary, who died in 2001 of bone marrow cancer.
* Yesterday, I...
  * Worked a long day and took Skyee on two 3 mile walks.

Life lessons learned...

* That family, friends, and relationships are what are important.
* Pieces of metal that start with a key and wood/masonry structures that you enter through a door are meaningless.

My thoughts on time and space...

* I would need more time and space to answer this one.

Major sources of joy...

* That I learned some life lessons as I went through Mary’s cancer treatments. That many people never learn including how to love and be loved.

I still wonder about...

* An endless number of things.

My spirituality is best described as...

* I believe but certainly don’t understand.

In the last five years, I have... Served as the only medical officer on the staff at Headquarters NATO, in Brussels Belgium. Lived, visited, or worked in 33 countries. Retired from the United States Army. Helped integrate countries of the old Warsaw pact into NATO programs and Western Europe. (I guess that degree in International Relations was good for something.)

Yesterday, I...
Hugged my wife, dropped emails to our kids, said temporary good-byes to our oldest friends, wrote reports, and got the "flu".

Life lessons learned... Heinlein was right: "A human being should be able to change a diaper, plan an invasion, butcher a hog, conn a ship, design a building, write a sonnet, balance accounts, build a wall, set a bone, comfort the dying, take orders, give orders, cooperate, act alone, solve equations, analyze a new problem, pitch
My thoughts on time and space... manure, program a computer, cook a tasty meal, fight efficiently, die gallantly. Specialization is for insects.

I still read good science fiction and dream...
Major sources of joy... My wife, kids and friends. Being out in the woods or mountains.

I still wonder about... Music 10

My spirituality is best described as... Wistful Agnostic

My small acts to improve the world include... Took care of lots of patients.
30 years in the Army, defending peace and freedom. Helping bring countries

In the last five years, I have...watched the company I work for increase in size & paid get two FOA approvals & Stock price ride a roller coaster. I have also white water rafted, mountain biked, sea kayaked, walked in Scottish Highlands & Grooves.  Traveled with Carleton Alumni on the Amazon & Machu Picchu.
Yesterday, I...ran, raked leaves, collected firewood, typed minutes of Neighbor Good Association, enjoyed a fire, played with the cats, cooked dinner, did a crossword, read a book, carved a pumpkin

Life lessons learned...balance, the value of good friends & a positive outlook

My thoughts on time and space...overwhelming - and a source of perspective

Major sources of joy...good friends, supportive family, accomplishing feats I thought impossible, a quiet evening at home,

I still wonder about...so many things. The more I learn, the more I realize Yesterday, I... inadvertently let the dogs out of the car near a brushy spot holding several white tailed deer. Quite a show although neither dog would know what to do with a deer that he caught.

Life lessons learned...

Life is incredibly rich - we are all blessed.

My thoughts on time and space...

I'm in shape; round is a shape

Major sources of joy...

family, sunshine, friends, books

I still wonder about... "why the sea is boiling hot, and whether pigs have wings?"

My spirituality is best described as... skeptical

My small acts to improve the world include... letting the car next to me merge in front when the lanes narrow.

Do you plan to attend reunion 2003? Yes _ No _ Maybe _

In the last five years, I have...lived in Belgium, and travelled to 43 countries (the most recent trip being to Mongolia). I have taken thousands of photos. I have founded and coordinated a cancer support group for English-speaking women in Brussels.

Yesterday, I sang in the Netherlands in a chorus which, along with 4 soloists from London's West End and an orchestra, performed show tunes for 3000 cement manufacturers. We received 2 standing ovations! Then I returned to Brussels to have fun with Dave, Suei Randell McClear '68, and Rick McClear (St. Olaf '68).

Life lessons learned...
Always carry a camera and extra film and batteries.
Always learn to say "toilet" in the local language.
If you don't recognize what's on your plate, you don't want to ask.

My thoughts on time and space...
It took a long time to figure out what to put in this space!
When I travel, I always sit on old walls, window seats, and benches. I feel transported back to the early days of that place.

Major sources of joy...
My family and friends, the stars over Mongolia, nature, music, light, color, and language.

I still wonder about... what pen name Miss Berge used.

My spirituality is best described as... contemplative, ebbing and flowing, expressed through helping others, and stimulated by nature, music, simplicity, and Gothic cathedrals.

My small acts to improve the world include... helping raise two great kids, teaching, running the support group, doing volunteer work, and weaving baskets and sewing sock monkeys for charity bazaars.

In the last five years, I have... been active in the Green Party; begun learning Chinese language; coordinated an Art Masterpiece program at my daughter's school.

Yesterday, I... agreed to present, with a colleague, a talk on classism for a district UU meeting.

Life lessons learned... there is no end to the joy of being with my child. Nonviolence has to be learned from the personal to the global.

My thoughts on time and space... unfathomable; but what I don't have time for, I probably won't miss; once treasured personal space is far less vital than connecting, interweaving with the world.

Major sources of joy... my daughter, our pets, our flower gardens; reading to Yanni first Harry Potter, then the Hobbit & Ring Trilogy; now Laura Ingalls Wilder collection.

I still wonder about... whether our family could have been larger if I had begun the process earlier (i.e., adopting from China).

My spirituality is best described as... a mixture of Quaker, Unitarian Universalism, Buddhist and earth centered.

My small acts to improve the world include... working with Alternatives to Violence Project, protesting against violent direction of U.S. government, working as board member of women's shelter, advisor for Youth in Government.

Yesterday, I...

watched the University of Oregon Ducks lose a football game;
went to a play, played my guitar.

Life lessons learned...
Humility, persistence, resolve

My thoughts on time and space...
The space for my time is shrinking (speaking relatively)

Major sources of joy...
My children, Nancy, my Martin guitar, writing, reading, travelling, my cat, Ali and my work.

I still wonder about... how I wrote all those term papers the night before...:

In the last five years, I have... published narrow specialized papers, been promoted, worried about funding, stopped smoking, gained weight, become a Mahler fanatic, visited California as often as possible, celebrated a 10th anniversary, and considered myself happy.

Yesterday, I... wished my office had windows and thought about emigrating to another kingdom like Australia or California

Life lessons learned...
not all problems can be solved by the right words

My thoughts on time and space...

Major sources of joy...
Waking up with my wife, watching my girl play soccer, delicious food, profound music

I still wonder about...
What took all the hope out of politics

My spirituality is best described as...
skepticism about purely secular answers

My small acts to improve the world include...

CLASS OF 1968

Hello,
It would be nice if you would actually give your name...
Sorry this all got buried under other mail. No plans to attend the reunion. I have to be working (=teaching) then. My semester doesn't finish until August.
The only item that needs adding is possibly under "small acts":
collecting money from people on campus at the school where I work to buy rice to send to homeless people in Osaka (the major center for homeless in Japan). Been doing that for 4 years now. Presently 50 - 60 people contribute monthly.

In the last five years, I have... grown a lot, but not enough, I fear.

Yesterday, I... went to church, tuck my wife & 2 of my daughters to lunch & went to the office to work on my books & pay some bills.

Life lessons learned...
(See the next item below)

My thoughts on time and space...
There isn't enough of either... check my calendar

32 This is late. What can I say?
In the last five years, I have increased both my client base and the one I sit on, watched a good chunk of the investments I live on dwindle into oblivion, visited with family, found some new friends, made lots of word puzzles, designed jolly little "Faerie Aeries" (confections of beads, feathers, and fabric to compensate for too many words), found a yoga class, further explored energy work and movement, joined a Family Constellation study group, kept up a satisfying correspondence with John and Lota Bare and mourned John's passing.

Yesterday I....made the attached puzzle. At least I hope it's here somewhere for you to try out and troubleshoot for me. (I found the original format in an old Dell Puzzle magazine, took maybe three days to figure it out, made the format more fun and started cranking them out compulsively. Well, they're probably staving off Alzheimers.) Also I saw a client, to the joy and benefit of both of us, had a nice walk, and avoided watching any more political ads.

Life lessons learned......Each ordinary life has the potential for infinite wonder. Learning, loving, and laughing are essential. When all else fails, keep breathing, preferably with some awareness. Emotional generosity helps in traffic. Find someone dear to talk to when you find yourself saying, "I can’t tell anyone this!"

My thoughts on time and space......Time and space are a function of Earth life and states exist in which time/space either works differently or isn’t. I know there is a lot of space between the particles that make up matter, but I haven’t yet solved the bemusing challenge offered by the sign on a door at the healing school I attended: "Please keep this door closed at all times." (A door you keep closed at ALL times is a wall, unless you’ve transcended time/space.)

Major sources of joy.....my family, friends, intelligent conversation, inspired silliness, nature, color, movement, music I love (involuntary music I hate is a major source of joy’s opposite), my work, my puzzles, and the rare really good movie or play.

I still wonder about.....the impact of saturating people with ugly noise from before birth, why with so many people there’s so much loneliness (too many people for connection?), what on earth President Bush is thinking, what it will take to make a lot of countries work better, why we’re all here in the first place...

My spirituality is best described as God is love is maybe the only literal truth in the Bible, free will is part of the deal, being born in LaCrosse instead of New Delhi is no reason not to consider reincarnation as a possibility. I like Anne Lamott’s "The two best prayers are, ‘Help me, help me, help me!’ and ‘Thank You, Thank You, Thank You!’" to which I would add, "Lord, make me a blessing to someone today."

My small acts to improve the world include.....working as a healer, letting people in in traffic, my own capacity for joy, composting.

Don’t plan to attend the reunion: I like being places more than getting there, you’ll probably play loud music, who do I know? Best way to overcome excuse: find a good-humored, interesting, non-smoking opera lover to transport me, and convince me there’ll be many smoke-free, non-bass-enhanced gatherings and free massages.
INSTRUCTIONS
In this puzzle a list of eight 6- or 7-letter words is taken apart so each letter sits in one square of the grid. Each letter has a numerical value determined by adding together that square's row and column numbers (provided in lower left-hand corner). Each array of numbers below the grid represents one of the 6- or 7-letter words. The numbers in each array are in correct order, so that when the correct letter is substituted for each number, a word will be spelled out. Your job is selecting the correct letter for each number by trying out the various letter possibilities for that number in the grid. Start with the letters with the highest and lowest values first (2 and 15, the two 3s and 14s, etc.), and enter those letters above their numbers below. Each letter (grid space) may be used only once. Careful - some arrays may spell out more than one word. The * in #5 designates one of these tricky choices. Plurals may be used, and informal language, but no proper names unless they also stand alone as words.

HINTS: The initial letters of each Word, going down, spell out an 8-letter word. You can save it for dessert, or use it to help in solving. As an added bonus, this puzzle tells a little story. Look for double letters and common prefixes and suffixes (EX-, -LY, -ING, etc.).

In the last five years, I have ... involved the performing arts in my organizational development work, much to the surprise of the organizations.

Yesterday, I... paid a man more than I earn in a week to remove three trees from my front yard. It took him a day.

Life lessons learned... I should have gone into the tree removal business.

My thoughts on time and space... I know I had some... I just can't seem to remember them at the moment.

Major sources of joy... my 2-year-old daughter and my wife - who astounds me with her patience.

I still wonder about... whether humankind will survive the next century... or the next decade for that matter.

My spirituality is best described as... increasing as I grow older.

My small acts to improve the world include... volunteer work as a family mediator, avoiding political arguments and more understanding on the freeway.

Life lessons learned... 0 Don't trust your feelings and emotions -- they might spring from indigitation or a bad case of gas; 2 Rely upon the historicity of the orthodox Christian faith; 3 Use color coding when necessary.

My thoughts on time and space...
Both created. The challenge is to think and be eternally.

Major sources of joy...
Semper sub eorum Christi

I still wonder about... why Carleton had part-time hours and a prohibition of acting when I was there. Was it training secular monks-to-be?

My spirituality is best described as... Christological, liturgical, historic, orthodox; something given and not earned; something truly divine.

D. Tatum hit Johnny Cash hit Barbara Peterson (Both '67), Barbara Ray '68, (my mom), and Kaye Covel '67 at a spiritual director.

Life lessons learned... Where do I begin? And how many pages do I have?
1. Importance of community, including old friends like Carol and other
2. Slow down
3. Simplify
4. Love God & serve others
5. Try to find a little time by myself each day or week
6. Enjoy life to the fullest while you can.

My thoughts on time and space... being compassionate & general towards those who were not as fortunate as I by accident of birth.

Major sources of joy... beauty of creation. Family life: Lee, my 85 yr. old mom who now lives 6 blocks from us, Willie (our 11 yr. black lab). My job as Minister of Visitation at Los Altos UMC (completing 8th yr). First, from the Colorado Department of Education, where I was state director for gifted and talented education; and then from the University of Denver, where I served as Associate Director for the Institute for the Development of Gifted Education, and will continue to be an Adjunct Professor in the College of Education.

Yesterday, I... joined a local health club. I figure it's never too late to try to become fit. Wish me luck...

Life lessons learned... Give more than you get... Love unconditionally... Work at keeping communications open and flowing in relationships.

My thoughts on time and space... For so long, I have said, "Sometime or someday I'd like to do this or that." But when is "sometime" or "someday" if not now...?

Major sources of joy... The wonder of the ever-unfolding relationship of love and respect I have with my wife, Gayle; our children; our extended family; our friends; intellectual and spiritual curiosity and venturing... much more.

I still wonder about... just about everything! So many more questions than sure answers... So much more mystery than certainty...

My spirituality is best described as... Continually trying to understand what it means to be a good human being and to live a good life.

My small acts to improve the world include... Volunteering with a local food bank; recycling; conserving; taking personal responsibility for what I do and don't do...

(2) Cut back work to 3/4's time
(3) Started the process of catching up to collections and paperwork

Yesterday, I...

(1) Worked in the house, like
(2) Woke up
(3) Slept
(4) Searched again for more peace and tranquility in this life
(5) Had three good laughs.

Life lessons learned...

There are some truly awesome folks out there, thank goodness, but there are a few too many who should be trustworthy or responsible or caring and aren't.

My thoughts on time and space...

I really don't care about either.
I worry about our unsustainable life style here in the USA and the overpopulation of the planet.

Major sources of joy...

People — principally my family. One son married last summer and the other engaged. I really like my work too.

I still wonder about...

What is it that really makes the body "tick" — the mind, too. And how come we heal?

My spirituality is best described as...

In the last five years, I have... became middle-aged, overall a very good thing.

Yesterday, I... watched a bald eagle soar across a nearby pond.

Life lessons learned... you can plan as much as you like, work tremendously hard to get things to go according to your plan, but life just doesn't always go according to that plan... and sorts of things intervene (How? Fate? Chance?)

My thoughts on time and space... neither are as set as distinct as I once thought.

Major sources of joy... my children - Nick (27), Dain (24, ('02), and his wife Sue; my husband; my field, wood, and garden; caring and teaming and snuggling; my extended family (i.e. sometimes a real pain).

I still wonder about... actually what I no longer wonder much about is probably more interesting: I no longer wonder much about books. I'm far more interested in people and their lives.

My spirituality is best described as... curious about more experience that we... at least I... sometimes have that sense outside of our present time and place as we manually know it.

My small acts to improve the world include... caring for my country property - its trees, shrubs, and grasses; its animals; all sorts; and its soils. Teaching children.

Be well... do good work... and keep in touch.

Spouse: Kathryn Kerrigan (Irish to the last freckle, she's Catholic and fortunately can pray for my secular humanist soul).
Pets: Jenny (short for Generic Cat, which seems appropriate since she changes color every few years).
Medications: Depend on my destination (you can take that any way you want).

In the last five (no, ten) years, I have... done pretty much the same things I told you about at Reunion '93. Kathy and I still live in the same white cottage with a picket fence, still drive the same old Ford sedan, and still tend the same abundant garden that drew us from coastal California to semi-retirement in rural Iowa more than a decade ago. (Rural Iowa is like Brigadoon, but in denim rather than plaid). I still share a pathology position (it's as much fun as crossword puzzles, but with useful results) with a friend and doppelganger from Yale, and Kathy still works part time trying to teach family planning to hormonally restless natives, which leaves us 26 weeks scattered throughout each year to follow a worldwide trail of interesting people, places, and ideas that started 35 years ago at Carleton.

Yesterday I... kid you not, I pulled the '93 and '98 reunion bio's off the shelf and read them again, following all of you like characters in a Russian novel, taking fraternal pride in those who have accomplished good things, sympathizing with those whose paths have been strewn with obstacles, and admiring each of you brave enough to share your life story with candor and humility.

Life lessons learned... learning never ends.

My thoughts on time and space... occupy neither.

Major sources of joy... always come at unexpected moments in the simplest of guises.

I still wonder about... what Viet Nam taught us. Future events may change my mind, but as I write this in early October, 2002, we seem to be making the same mistake over and over around the world, in the self-righteous name of patriotism. When I travel in Viet Nam (and too many other nations that have been the victims of our economic, political, and military policies) a generation after the war and feel the warmth and forgiveness of a people we terrorized in our own way, I feel shame for our past but hope for the future, no matter how many people and peoples we hurt.

My spirituality is best described as... nonexistent. As an example, my father died a few years ago at age 88. He was a big bear of a man who showed us his love in a myriad of ways, and I returned that love with unabashed zeal (our bear hugs might have embarrassed others). I felt the loss in his death, but no sorrow or spirituality. I believe that spirituality is a sufficient but not necessary condition for a meaningful life. The here and now of life are more important to me.

My small acts to improve the world include... coming to Reunion '03. Hope to see (and celebrate our Carleton years with) you there.

In the last five years, I have... become a judge of the Superior Court for the County of Los Angeles!!
Yesterday, I... walked 5 miles to brunch and 5 miles back - I love LA!!

Life lessons learned... The Girl Scouts were right - new friends are silver, old ones are pure gold.
(Hello Sherry, Jan, Clare & Ginny!!)
My thoughts on time and space... There is never enough of either.

Major sources of joy... Matt (Stanford '03), Mark (Carleton '66)
Berger's & JJS (Board Collee U. - still in school)
Great Friends (wonderful job, a liberal arts education)
I still wonder about...
What did we see in macrame?

My spirituality is best described as... none of your business

My small acts to improve the world include... Writing checks to Democratic candidates; always using the objective case properly (between you and me).

Calmed down; practiced serenity; rediscovered old values.

Yesterday, I...

Went to a best friend's funeral. (We better get used to it.)

Life lessons learned... The list of things I don't understand grows daily.

My thoughts on time and space...

"Are what one makes of them. The clock is running.

Major sources of joy...

My children... for reasons that often defy rational explanation.

I still wonder about...

In the last five years, I have worked as Wildlife Program Manager for the Coronado National Forest, from the Sonoran desert to spruce-fir forests.

Yesterday, I...

wrote one more damn bureaucratic report.

Life lessons learned...

Field positions are more stimulating than desk jobs.

My thoughts on time and space...

Even though I rarely or never see you fine Carleton people who have and are making the world a better place (or at least more interesting), it's reassuring.

Major sources of joy...

The wonder of the deceased died too soon.

Sonoran desert, Jorgenson islands, my daughter, cherished friends, flashes of life lived fully...

I still wonder about...

What is, was, could have been — the authors of these questions.

In the last five years, I have... joined AA, sober from alcohol since 5/97, opened my own office as a psychologist (4/97) with a great partner, ran in 5 marathons, won 1st & 2nd places in 2 Body Building contests, stayed married to Terry (6 years today!), saw Bowie Murray backed by our philharmonic orchestra, had dinner with younger daughter, world worked out, loved my husband.

Life lessons learned... I have to let go of trying to control people, places, things - I can only control my own thoughts & actions which is plenty hard enough. Loving & forgiving myself are very hard to do.

My thoughts on time and space... are based on my belief in a Higher Power, where I am now, in time and space, is exactly where I should be.

Major sources of joy... loving, intimate, soul-sharing moments with family, friends, and occasionally with clients. After that, skiing and scuba diving are real thrills.

I still wonder about... how, if any, different we are as humans from the earliest of our species walking the planet 100,000 years ago.

Carleton Class of 1968 Reunion Survey

Me: Bill Tredwell  Spouse: Susan (23 years + married) Dog: Oatmeal
Address: 5 Chestnut St., Boston MA 02108 617.742.6659

Medications: Diovan for mild hypertension (so I must have a heart)

In the past five years I have: Worked as a consultant for the Hay Group and become somewhat expert on Emotional Intelligence and resilience; been to the Galapagos, New Zealand and other cool places; had back surgery; read all but two of the Booker Prize winners; moved to Boston from Maine; celebrated the Patriots’ Super Bowl win; despaired that our country has been taken over by fatcats, yahoos and zealots.

Yesterday: Went to work, went to dinner with Susan, mourned the death of Paul Wellstone.

Life lessons learned: I might as well enjoy the aging process since the alternatives are bad; life does not need to be so complicated; New England is better than the midwest (not to mention the mideast); just when you think there will never be another good movie made, someone will make a film like Spiderman; air travel will always suck.

Time and space: I remember late-night discussions on this subject. My memory is a little hazy (wonder why). I always liked space better. I remember Tim Gamble arguing for Time and citing PT Barnum as proof, but I don’t remember the underlying logic of his argument. There may have been none.

Sources of joy: My wife, my dog, summer days at our house in Maine, travel to cool places, stories of people doing good. Occasionally doing good myself.

I still wonder about: Why anyone could like the Cubs; how anyone could have ‘discovered’ America; how electricity works; how anyone could think the Stones were better than either the Beatles or Dylan (not to mention Cream).

My spirituality: I think I started leaning to atheism when I first started Sunday School at age three. Did you hear about the dyslexic, agnostic insomniac who stayed up all night contemplating the existence of Dog? Actually I do believe in the spirituality of dogs, specially Golden Retrievers like mine.

My small acts to improve the world: Often not telling others what I really think; covering up books by horrible people (Oliver North comes to mind) in bookstores; voting for taxes for education; I actively support the New Hampshire SPCA.

Will I come? Just might. I don’t look back in life, and have never done a reunion before. Fact that I did not enjoy my four years in the land of ‘Cows, colleges and contentment’ is another dissuader. However, I have come to terms with the fact my less than great experience was more about me than either the cows or the college, and am thankful for the quality of the education I received (imagine if I had paid attention!) and proud of the school’s mission. I also like a lot of folks there, and it would be fun to see them again. Also, the video showed that others have aged as unmercifully as I, and I still have more hair than Hallberg.

Thanks for asking. I have marked the dates (in ink) in my calendar.
In the last five years, I have... EUTHANIZED MY TWO OLD DOGS; ADOPTED TWO FROM SHELTIE RESCUE; TRADED IN MY 13-YEAR-OLD CAR; VACATIONED AT A SPA IN BUDAPEST; RETIRED FROM TEACHING HIGH SCHOOL ENGLISH; HAD MY TV WIRED AS A NIELS N RATING'S TV (IT HAS FUN NOT TO WATCH STUFF). YESTERDAY, I... WENT TO PIGGY WIGGLY; MADE SQUASH SOUP; PACKED UP THE GARBAGE AND HANDED IT TO THE CURB; WROTE BILLS; HUNG SOME SOAP ON THE FENCE FOR MY FRIENDS NEXT DOOR (THE LADY CAN'T RETIRE UNTIL JUNE); DID THE SUNDAY PUZZLE; PUT AWAY LAUNDRY; PUT ON A PUMPKIN MASK AND SCARED THE DOGS; BROUGHT A SWISS CHEESE PLANT IN FROM THE PORCH... AND SO ON... EVERY PLEASANT, ORDINARY DAY.

Life lessons learned... SATISFACTION AND CONTENTMENT ARE WORTHY. ATTAINABLE GOALS; LIVING ALONE HAS DISTINCT ADVANTAGES (SUCH AS, I CAN LEAVE MY CHRISTMAS TREE UP ALL YEAR); NOTHING MUCH BEATS PEACE AND QUIET; BEING A CUB FAN IS A CONTEMPORARY VERSION OF THE MYTH OF SISYPHUS.

My thoughts on time and space... TIME EXPANDS TO FIT HOWEVER MUCH I HAVE TO GET DONE, 30 MINUTES.

SPACE: WHEN ALL SURFACES ARE COVERED, MAKE PILES.

Major sources of joy... FINISHING ANYTHING; LIVING WITH GOOFY DOGS; HAVING STRONG FRIENDSHIPS; BEING PAID NOT TO WORK; LISTENING TO A WELL-PLAYED BASEBALL GAME (LAST SEASON, GAVE THE CUBS BREWERS, 1 OUT OF 6...)

I still wonder about... AT LEAST ONE THING EVERY DAY (AND THEN I TRY TO LOOK IT UP)

My spirituality is best described as... UP IN THE AIR...

My small acts to improve the world include... STILL SERVING ON THE LIBRARY SYSTEM BOARD AND WORKING FOR THE LOCAL FRIENDS WORKING A LITTLE FOR THE LOCAL HUMAN SOCIETY AND THE SHELTIE RESCUE GROUP.

Reunion Committee
Class of ’68
Carleton College
Carleton Alumni Affairs Office
One North College Street
Northfield, MN  55057

Sorry for the delay in returning the survey for the Class of 1968 Reunion next June. I have summarized below answers to some of the questions:

Four years ago, I left Lincoln National and joined National City Bank of Indiana as a Vice President in its South Bend office, with responsibilities for originating and administering commercial real estate loans. This required a move from Fort Wayne to South Bend and a change from country living back into the city. My wife, Karen, left her position as Director of the Early Childhood Program at Canterbury School in Fort Wayne as part of this move, and, for the past two years, she has been teaching at the Stanley Clark School in South Bend, this year in its Kindergarten. Our son, Erik, graduated from Vanderbilt University and is now in Atlanta, GA, where he is working for a regional office of a national real estate brokerage company. I continue to be active in civic organizations, currently serving on the boards of two local not-for-profit organizations, one involved with providing housing for low income families, and the other providing services to hearing impaired individuals.

Right now, I am planning to attend the Reunion in June 2003.

If you have questions or require additional information, please e-mail me at the National City address.

Yours truly,

Gerald M. Weiss

In the last five years, I have... rarely completed a survey.

Yesterday, I... chose not to respond to this survey.

Life lessons learned... 1) Surveys exist.
2) Some one or some group creates them.
3) Individuals may opt not to complete them.
4) Life is full of choices.

My thoughts on time and space... it takes time to fill the space of surveys.

Major sources of joy... intuition, hope, creative surges and absence of surveys.

I still wonder about... all these elements that cannot be tallied in surveys, including "wonder."

My spirituality is best described as... un-surveyable.

My small acts to improve the world include... recycling surveys.

In the last five years, I have: retired, painted the fence, partially unretired, smoked approximately 54,750 Pall Malls, picked up a replacement Beagle, watched approximately 12,775 hours of TV including all Survivor episodes, visited 12 National Parks, won three Vitt Rotisserie League championships, and much, much more!

Yesterday, I: got up, drank some coffee, read the Post, watched Katie and Matt, drove into the District, drank some more coffee, worked on with the FY 2004 Department of Employment Services budget, left work, had a platter of Cincinnati 4-way chili, took a nap, ate dinner, whiled away the evening, went to bed.

Life lessons learned: a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush, don't throw the baby out with the bath water, and always hit the cut-off man.

My thoughts on time and space: there is plenty of space, but not nearly enough time.

Major sources of joy: spring training in Fort Lauderdale.

I still wonder about: why Angela Strehli (the class of 1968's best blues singer) wasn't listed in the 35-year directory, which committee member wrote this survey (I know it wasn't Dean or Pile - my money is on Menzel), and who put the ram in the ram-a-lam-a-ding-dong.

My spirituality is best described as: my favorite spirituality is "I'll Fly Away."

My small acts to improve the world include: voting Republican and always braking for squirrels.

In the last five years, I have: worked running an exchange program with New York City high school students and Navajo students, made many friends in New Mexico and Arizona, fallen in love with my children as adults, rediscovered a love of travel, started going to lots of jazz, spent lots of time with teenagers from all over.

Yesterday, I got a great compliment from son Jeff, spent time on the phone with Jeff and Jeremy. Had fun with my students. learned how to say hello in Khumer.

Life lessons learned: people are most important, acknowledge people for what they do or what they are to me, listen, relax and enjoy.

My thoughts on time and space not enough of either in New York City,
Major sources of joy: family, friends (old and new), travel, learning.

I still wonder about what I want to do when I grow up, or what next?

My spirituality is best described as belief in the good in people, past, present

In the last five years, I have... gone from biking, or walking the dirt road up a 700-foot mountain, maybe every few weeks, to - hiking every week, - leading Appalachian Mountain Club hikes, - gaining and losing up to 4700 feet of elevation in a day, - keeping track of which of the 48 New Hampshire 4000-foot-or-more mountains I've climbed (41 left), and - learning how to survive at 6000 feet in any season and weather.

In the last five years, I have... hiked my state's share of the Appalachian trail, in one-day pieces.

Yesterday, I... turned around on Mt. Moosilauke, rather than hazard sharing it with hordes of idiot children who were racing to the summit in spite of the snow. (N.B.: "racing" is not a metaphor, but rather recognizable from the running shoes, the Spiderman-style costumes, and the numbers pinned to their chests; "idiot" and "children" are hyperbolic terms for undergraduates; I use "hordes" within its range of literal meaning.

In the last five years, I have... after lunch, climbed Mt. Cardigan (3155 feet; 1760 feet gain over 2.2 miles), which finishes with one-tenth mile of 33% average grade bare rock and impressive wind chill; from the tree line up, the ascent was terrifying for me, especially in light of imagining I'd be unable to force myself to descend; the descent turned out to be challenging, but a joy in light of the contrast with what I had feared it would feel like.

Life lessons learned... You don't have to be a jerk to lift weights. An SUV makes all sorts of sense, once you admit the existence of logging roads. Not capitalizing the first person singular pronoun doesn't accomplish much.

My thoughts on time and space... Does a major in physics make this an easier, or harder, question?

Major sources of joy... Sushi and sashimi Snow falling in the woods Breaking trail (first on it since snowfall) Our place north of the White Mountains, where - people who are still strangers wave when driving by (because wanting to be there means we must be OK?), - we couldn't hope to stop being from "away" in our lifetimes, - the paved roads all leave in the same direction, and - the responsibilities we think about are packing out what we pack in, not attempting substitutes for an early start, and never, ever, precipitating a rescue through inadequate preparation.

I still wonder about... whether fusion power would really make the difference how thoroughly a society as a whole can undertake early-childhood measures and schooling whether genetic auto-engineering explains the Fermi paradox whether Bussard ram-jets are possible.

My spirituality is best described as... best left undescribed, since description of it would be as fruitless and arrogant as describing anyone else's is.

My small acts to improve the world include... Towing two carts in from the lot Not blocking the intersection Planting seeds of doubt in the minds of underprepared hikers.
