Knights look to retain Goat Trophy against rival Oles
Carleton suffered its second heartbreaking loss in five days on Monday, but will have to rebound if it hopes to stay on track in one of the most infamous rivalries in college hoops. The Knights fell to St. Thomas by a score of 67-66 on Monday as the Tommies banked in a three-pointer with five seconds left to negate a 12 point Carleton comeback.

The Knights and Oles play every year for the possession of the Goat Trophy, and the team that does not possess the trophy must sweep the season series to win it back. Last season Carleton swept St. Olaf to win the trophy, which they had lost the year before.

Broadcast Information
Saturday's game can be heard live on Carleton's new radio partner, KQCL 95.9 FM/Power 66, with award-winning sports director Gordy Kosfeld on the call. The game can also be heard via the Carleton Athletic Website (www.carleton.edu/athletics/broadcasts).

Last time out – St. Thomas 67, Carleton 66
Dan Forkrud scored a career-high 25 points and added 11 rebounds, five assists and three steals, but for the second time in six days Carleton lost on an improbable shot at St. Thomas banked home a three-pointer with five seconds left to beat the Knights, 67-66.

With his team trailing by two, UST's Sean Sweeney dribbled to the top of the key and let fly a three that hit the glass, rolled around the rim and home. His heroics offset a monster performance by Forkrud, which came one game after he scored a career-worst two points against Macalester this past Saturday. He was 10-for-17 from the field and held UST's leading scorer, Isaac Rosefelt, to eight points and four turnovers.

Kyle Beste tallied 18 points and Tommy Drake added 12 points, eight rebounds and three steals. Anthony Baquero was also double figures with 11 for Carleton. After a Carleton miss with 1:14 left and the game tied, the Tommies threw the ball away. Beste scored on a pull-up jumper at the right elbow with 25 seconds left, and a subsequent Tommie turnover with 14 seconds appeared to seal UST's fate.

On the inbound play, however, Carleton's return pass to the inbounder hit the end line. It set up Sweeney's game winner, although Carleton had one more chance. With three seconds showing on the clock, the Knights set up a play. After the ball was inbounded and the Carleton player took two dribbles, the officials waved the play dead, saying the clock wasn't started on time. On the restart, Jake Phillips' desperation three was just off the mark.

Goat Trophy added element to hot rivalry
Carleton and St. Olaf are meeting for the 175th time on Saturday in one of the hottest small college basketball rivalries in the Midwest. To add to this unique rivalry, the two teams have battled for the “Goat Trophy” for the past 91 years. As the story goes, a St. Olaf student fashioned a makeshift goat out of a chair and hung it from the rafters of the St. Olaf gymnasium back in 1914, trying to “get the goat” of the Carleton players. Carleton won that contest and claimed the Goat as a symbol of the victory. The two teams have traded the “Goat” ever since. During the trophy’s beginnings, the Knights were in the midst of an 18-game winning streak, longest in the series.

Last meeting: Jan. 31, 2004, Carleton 59, St. Olaf 57
Anthony Baquero scored a season-high 18 points, going a perfect 5-for-5 from three-point range, and his runner in the lane with 39 seconds left helped propel Carleton College to a thrilling 59-57 victory over St. Olaf College at West Gym.
Baquero, who didn’t miss a shot in six attempts, drove the lane and drew a foul, just beating the shot clock, to give Carleton a 56-55 lead with 39 seconds left. Dan Forkrud converted on two free throws with 23 seconds left and Carleton dodged a potential game-tying jumper by St. Olaf’s Ted Gonsior at the horn to complete the season sweep of the Oles.

The sweep gave Carleton possession of the infamous Goat Trophy, which St. Olaf took with a pair of overtime victories in 2002-03. Before last season, the Knights held the Goat Trophy for 14 consecutive seasons.

Tanner Schieck '04 scored 17 points for Carleton and Forkrud added 15 points, nine rebounds, five assists and four steals.

Beste continues move up career scoring list

Kyle Beste added 18 points to his career total on Monday, moving him past Jim Tolf '82 and into ninth place by himself on the Carleton all-time scoring list with 1,154 points. He needs 20 more points to surpass former teammate Tanner Schieck '04 for eighth on the all-time list. His 21.0 scoring average in MIAC play currently paces the conference. At his current pace, Beste could move into Carleton’s top three in all-time scoring.

Baquero surpasses 800 career points

Anthony Baquero used his fourth 20+ scoring game of his career and third this season to move past the 800-point for his career with his 21-point outburst in last Saturday’s victory over Macalester. Baquero is currently ranked among the nation’s leaders in three-pointers made and three-point percentage, through games of Jan. 9. The senior ranks 29th with 3.4 three-pointers made per game and 37th in percentage at 44.6 percent. In MIAC play, he ranks first in three-pointers made per game at 3.14 per game and tenth in three-point percentage at 44.0 percent. He is third all-time at Carleton with 153 three-pointers heading into Saturday’s contest. Last Saturday also marked his 80th career start.

Carleton-St. Olaf Series

The Knights lead the all-time series with Northfield rival St. Olaf, 92-82. The Knights have won 13 of the last 18 meetings between the two schools, including a sweep of the Oles last season. The last seven contests have been decided by a total of 31 points, with two of those going into overtime. Carleton is 54-33 all-time on its home floor in the series, which has been continuous dating back to the 1934-35 season, a span of 70 seasons. The teams first met in 1910, with St. Olaf sweeping the season series.

About St. Olaf

The Oles have struggled to rebound from the loss of three starters from last year’s team, and have stumbled to a 2-6 record in conference play thus far. They are led by a pair of sophomore forwards, Jaun Jonson and guard Jon Butala. Bain is St. Olaf’s top scorer and rebounder, as he is averaging 13.0 points per game and is pulling in 6.7 rebounds per game. Butala is second on the team in both those categories, as he is scoring 12.5 points per game and grabbing 5.2 rebounds per game.

Bain is joined up front by sophomore Mark Bergstrom, who is averaging 6.2 ppg and 3.5 rpg. The Oles offense is run by senior Pat Fraser, who leads his team in assists with 2.5 apg. First-year guard Tucker Weisman rounds out the starting lineup for St. Olaf, and he has contributed well in his debut season in the MIAC, scoring 7.2 ppg.

The Oles are coached by Don Kosmiski, who is in his 11th season at the helm for St. Olaf. He has amassed a career 115-143 record.

Jottings

Carleton’s consecutive overtime games last week marks the fourth time such a thing has occurred in Knights’ history, the last being the 1998-99 season. Before today’s game the Knights will honor senior forward Kyle Beste for scoring his 1,000th career point. Beste scored his 1,000th... point in the Knights' Dec. 6 victory over St. John's... Both the Knights and the Oles are adept at getting to the free throw line. Carleton has shot 117 more free throws than its opponents, while the Oles have attempted 52 more free throws than their opponents...

The February 23, 1939 game between these two schools was cancelled because of a break out of the flu.

Guy Kalland

Guy Kalland enters his 21st year at the helm of the Carleton men's basketball program as one of the most successful coaches in the MIAC. A 1974 graduate of Concordia College, Moorhead, Kalland has led his team to the MIAC playoffs 11 times in the past 15 seasons and 12 times overall. The 2002-03 season marked another milestone in his storied career, as he passed his predecessor, Jack Thurnblad, as Carleton's all-time winningest coach. He also reached a coaching milestone with his 250th win on Dec. 6, 2003, against Augsburg College. Kalland, a former assistant men's basketball coach at the University of Minnesota from 1977-88, spent four years at Inver Hills Community College, leading the team to a 1982 state championship and runner-up honors in Region XIII. Kalland also coached for three years at Eagle Bend-Minn. High School and Cannon Falls (Minn.) High School. He runs numerous successful basketball camps during the summer and is a professor of physical education, athletics and recreation at Carleton. Kalland and his wife, Linda, have a daughter, Abby, a 2004 graduate of Carleton and a former member of the Knights' women's basketball and softball teams.

Kalland is 267-249 in his 21st season at Carleton and overall. He is one of only four MIAC coaches with 250 or more wins at his respective school.
