Knights News and Notes

• In Wednesday’s MIAC opener, Carleton used a 47-point second half to rally from 10 points down to prevail 74-63. Both of the Knights’ victories have come when trailing at halftime. Last year, Carleton was 3-7 when behind at the half.

• Concordia beat Carleton in 36 consecutive games from Feb. 25, 1982-Jan. 26, 2000. The Knights then rattled off 10 straight wins through January 2005. Carleton is 2-3 against the Cobbers the last two seasons.

• In the last matchup between today’s opponents, Carleton’s Megan Mileusnic made game-winning basket with two seconds left, giving the Knights a 58-57 win over Concordia on Jan. 22, 2007.

• A little over a year earlier, Carleton post player Hannah Oken-Berg blocked school-record eight shots in Jan. 4, 2006, loss to Concordia.

• The Carleton College Women’s Basketball team will host a food drive in conjunction with their Monday, December 3 matchup against College of St. Benedict with tip-off scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at West Gym. The Knights, who have enjoyed tremendous support from the Northfield community, look to give something back by creating this benefit to aid local food bank organizations. The cost of admission to all regular-season games at Carleton is free. For this game, however, the Knights are suggesting a donation of two cans of food or other non-perishable food items.

The match-up between Carleton and St. Benedict is one of the biggest of the season. The two schools have a history of face-offs in post-season playoffs, and are two of the top contenders for the conference title. The Blazers are coming off of back-to-back MIAC titles and were picked first in the conference in the MIAC preseason coaches’ poll.

• The Knights opened their season at the McWilliams Classic in St. Louis and defeated #12 Luther College, 66-56, on the first day and lost the championship matchup to #6 Washington University, 51-58, on the Bears’ home floor. Amber Connor and Sarah Lincoln were named to the six-member all-tourney team.

• Carleton has qualified for the MIAC Playoffs each year during the event’s seven-year history. Only Carleton, St. Benedict and Gustavus have qualified for every conference tournament.

• Carleton advanced to the MIAC Playoffs title game the first six seasons before losing to St. Benedict’s in the semifinals a year ago.

• The Knights have recorded nine straight seasons with double-digit conference wins under head coach Tammy Metcalf-Filzen. Prior to her tenure, Carleton hadn’t won more than nine games in MIAC play in 16 seasons. Carleton also has 10 consecutive seasons (all under Metcalf-Filzen) with at least 10 wins. Prior to her arrival the program won 10 or more games twice in 24 seasons.

Scouting the Cobbers:

Of the 14 players listed on the Cobbers’ roster, eight are freshmen. Before the pack of freshmen can become stars on their own, they will serve as a supporting cast to the team’s one legitimate superstar this season. Senior Melanie Hageman returns after being named to the D3hoops.com All-West Region Second Team for the past two seasons. The two-time All-MIAC performer is the 10th player in program history to score 1,000 points and collect 500 rebounds in a career.

To find a replacement for Keeley in the backcourt, Rahman brought in four decorated freshman guards and has five other returning players just waiting to step out of the shadows and into the spotlight.

Leading the other returnees are junior Jenna Freudenberg and sophomore Sara Sorbo. Freudenberg is a two-year starter at point guard and last year was third on the team in scoring with an 8.4 ppg average and led the team in assists. Sorbo was named to the MIAC All-First Year Team last season and finished fourth in the MIAC in steals and second on the team in assists.

Four freshman guards could all be in the mix, including Erica Nord and Lindsey Schultz. Nord was a two-time Minnesota All-State player, and Schultz scored over 2,000 points in her high school career.

The biggest question mark for the Cobbers in 2007-08 will be underneath the basket. Besides Hageman, Concordia has a group of inexperienced forwards and post players.

St. Benedict Blazers

Scouting the Blazers:

Two-time defending MIAC regular season champion Saint Benedict have high hopes for the 2007-08 season. Despite losing five seniors, the Blazers retained a group of core players. CSB returned nine players, including three starters. They also added 13 first-year players to the roster.

The returning starters are senior wing Mackenzie O’Neil, junior forward Ariel Tauer and junior point guard Nikki Carter.

Selected to the MIAC All-Defensive Team and named an All-MIAC Honorable Mention last season, O’Neil received a lot of attention for her tenacious defense. She averaged 3.3 steals, 6.7 points and 3.4 rebounds per game last season.

Tauer will create her opportunities underneath the basket on both ends of the floor. She averaged 5.3 rebounds per game last season along with a team-high 2.4 assists per game, and 7.0 points per game.

Bethel Royals

Scouting the Royals:

An improved Bethel squad will be looking to snap a 19-game slide to Carleton.

Kiersten Hansen returns following a fine freshman year that saw her finish third on the team in scoring during MIAC play, as well as being the team’s top defensive player on the perimeter. Annegret Nautsch followed a stellar first year with an even better sophomore performance, leading the team in scoring with 12 ppg and leading the MIAC in block shots and rebounds while only playing 20 minutes per game.

Also back after gaining valuable experience as freshmen playing at the varsity level are Shari Laugen and Kristen Wolters. Both players started a handful of games as freshmen and averaged over 18 minutes per night.

A large group of transfers to the Royals are led by 6-1 forward Erica Hormig, a former Division I player, who has come to Bethel from Cleveland State.

• The Royals lead all MIAC teams with 80.7 ppg this season.
• Bethel has connected on 45.5 of its field-goal attempts, tops among MIAC squads, but the Royals are hitting only 65 percent of their free throws.
• Nautsch is averaging 23.0 ppg and 11.3 rpg this year.
