Carleton escapes with two victories by a combined three points

The Knights stretched their winning streak to 13 games overall and 14 in MIAC play with two nail-biting victories against Concordia and Macalester.

Last Saturday in Moorhead, the Knights fell behind in the first half and it looked as though their winning streak would be halted. Carleton used a 15-4 run midway through the second half to escape with a 71-69 victory. Dan Forkrud scored 16 points, dished out seven assists and added four rebounds and three blocked shots and Zach Johnson added 16 points and four assists as four Knights scored in double figures.

Macalester came to West Gym on Monday evening, fighting for their playoff lives as they sat at 6-10 in MIAC play, two games out of a playoff spot. The Scots fought valiantly but fell 62-61 as Jake Phillips scored four of the games final five points, including the decisive free-throw. Phillips led the Knights with 20 points, including five three-pointers. Tommy Drake had 11 points and 10 rebounds and hit a huge 3-pointer and tip-in to tie the game with less than five minutes left after the Scots had led 54-49 with less than six minutes left. With the win the Knights maintained their first place tie with St. Thomas at 14-3 in the conference, as just three contests remain.

Knight Notes 'n Trends
- Carleton head coach Guy Kaland passed legendary Gustavus head coach Whitey Skog for sixth place on the MICAC coaching victories all-time list with 293 with the Knights' win over the Gusties.
- Dan Forkrud's scoring total pushed his career scoring total to 1,366 points, as he is now tied with Scott Kroll '93 for fifth on the all-time Carleton scoring list.
- The Knights have averaged 73.0 points per game during the win streak, and have been very good defensively, holding foes to 60.9 points and 41.6 percent shooting while making 50.2 percent of their own shots.
- The 13 consecutive wins for the Knights is the third-longest winning streak in school history and two away from matching the 1955-56 squad's 15-game streak. Carleton is also one win away from matching the school record for most wins in a season.
- The free-throw line has also been key for Carleton during the streak, as the Knights have made more free throws (184) than their opponents have attempted (135).
- Dan Forkrud is averaging 15.0 points, 8.6 rebounds, 3.0 assists and 3.2 steals per game in his career against St. Olaf. The big man from Rosemount, Minn., is shooting 59 percent from the field in the seven contests against the Oles.
- With their victory over Concordia, the Knights clinched a MICAC Tournament berth for the fifth consecutive season, and the 14th time in the last 20 seasons.
- Carleton can clinch a top-two seed in the MICAC Playoffs with one more win or one more St. John's loss. The top seeds in the conference tourney get a first-round bye and host the semifinals.

Probable Carleton Starter/Key Reserve Notes (updated Feb. 10, 2006)
#21 Jake Phillips, Jr., G, 6-2, Brainerd, Minn. (Brainerd HS); Has been stellar during the winning streak, averaging 14.1 points and 4.4 assists with a 1.5 assists-to-turnover ratio. He has shot 49.0 percent from three-point range in the 14-game stretch, knocking down 36.3 percent of his attempts... Carleton-Macalester Recap:
Jake Phillips scored 20 points, nailing a late three-pointer and the decisive free throw as Carleton rallied for a 62-61 win over Macalester College, marking the Knights’ 15th straight win. The Knights kept pace with fellow conference leader St. Thomas, which defeated St. Olaf College, 76-56.
The Scots were paced by Tom Conboy’s 19 points and 11 rebounds. Macalester led nearly the entire second half but had three straight turnovers in the final two minutes. Conboy had a contested look from 10 feet in the final seconds and Jesse Hollander’s put-back was just short at the horn, as the Scots lost another close game in MIAAC play. Brendan Bosman added 13 points and six rebounds for the Scots and Hollander added 10 points and six rebounds.
Tommy Drake had 11 points and 10 rebounds and hit a huge 3-pointer and tip-in to tie the game with less than five minutes left after the Scots had led 54-49 with less than six minutes left. Dan Forkrud added 13 points, five steals, four rebounds and three assists while Zach Johnson added 11 points and seven rebounds.
The Knights pulled within two on three occasions and finally caught the Scots at 54-54 with less than five minutes left after Drake drilled a three and tipped in a Johnson miss, but Conboy and Holander scored inside, pushing the Scots back in front by four. Johnson answered with a three, which was countered by a Brian Ranwick deep three-pointer. Phillips drained his own three and Forkrud came up with a steal with a minute left, leading to his free throw to tie the game at 61-61. Another Forkrud steal led to a foul on the other end as Phillips drove in and drew the contact, making one of two with 14 seconds left for the final margin.
The Knights shot 41 percent to the Scots’ 43 percent. Macalester held a 39-27 rebounding edge, but only 15-12 in second-chance points, but the difference was in turnovers. The Scots turned the ball over 13 times to nine for the Knights, leading to a Carleton 25-10 spread in points off turnovers.

Scouting the Oles:

St. Olaf crosses the Cannon River with a must-win mindset as another loss would allow but mathematically eliminate the Oles from the MIAC playoff race and extend their playoff drought to three years.

Streaky is the best word to describe the 2005-06 campaign for St. Olaf and head coach Dan Kosmoski. The Oles began the season 2-2, proceeded to lose eight straight games to qualify for their victory in six contests. Currently, St. Olaf is over a game losing streak. With just one senior on the squad, the inconsistency was not unexpected.

Arguably the most consistent player for the Oles this season has been junior Jon Bain. Bain is the team’s leader in blocked shots and rebounds. The forward also averages 10.6 points a game, which ranks second on the team.

Another player who has stepped up as of late for St. Olaf is Mark Bergstrom. Bergstrom, who has shared between a starting role and the sixth man on the team all season, has led the team in scoring in six of the last eight games. He is currently averaging 15.2 points while leading the team in 3-point shooting at 42.9 percent.

On the perimeter, the Oles are starting Jon Butala and Steve Barick. Butala, a former All-MIAC honorable mention selection is currently averaging 9.1 points per game. Last season, Butala shot nearly 39 percent from beyond the arc, but this season he has struggled to a paltry 27 percent. Barick, is averaging 10.1 points and 3.5 assists per game for St. Olaf.

Earlier this season:

at Skoglund Center: Carleton 85, St. Olaf 55

Dan Forndrup scored a season-high 24 points and grabbed 10 rebounds, Zach Johnson added 22 points and the Knights dominated every facet of the game in dismantling St. Olaf, 85-55.

The win allowed the Knights to maintain possession of the Goat Trophy for the 16th time in the last 17 years. The Oles needed a sweep of the season series to gain control of the 92-year old trophy. Carleton has won 16 of the last 21 matches with its Northfield rival.

The 30-point margin of victory matches the largest in 91 years in the series and is the largest in the modern era. The Knights beat St. Olaf, 39-9, back in 1915 when teams still had a jump ball after every successful basket and there was no center-court line.

Carleton-St. Olaf Rivalry

Carleton and St. Olaf are meeting for the 178th time on Saturday in one of the hottest small college basketball rivalries in the Midwest. To add to this unique rivalry, the two teams have battled for the “Goat Trophy” for the past 91 years. As the story goes, a St. Olaf student fashioned a makeshift goat out of a chair and hung it from the rafters of the St. Olaf gymnasium in 1914, trying to “get the goat” of the Carleton players. Carleton won that contest and claimed the Goat as a symbol of the victory. The two teams have traded the “Goat” ever since.

During the trophy’s beginnings, the Knights were in the midst of an 18-game winning streak, their longest in the series.

The all-time series, which began in 1910, is led by Carleton who holds a 95-82 advantage.

On February 23, 1939, the game between St. Olaf and Carleton was cancelled because of an Influenza Virus breakout. Carleton has won 24 of the last 31 and 16 of the last 21 meetings between the two schools, including a sweep of the Oles last season. The teams first met in 1910, with St. Olaf sweeping the season series.

The team not in possession of the Goat Trophy must be sweep the season series in order to wrest control away from the other team.

The Knights and the Oles are tied for the 35th longest rivalry in Division III with their 178th meeting today.

Longest Division III Basketball Series (Unofficially):

1. 211, Williams-Wesleyan
2. 202, Illinois-Wesleyan-Millikin
3. 198, Ripon-Lawrence
4. 178, Carleton-St. Olaf
