YOUTHFUL KNIGHTS LOOK TO KEEP PACE WITH LEADERS

Carleton, in the midst of a season-best four game winning streak, finds itself two games back of first place and only one game behind of third heading into a key two-week stretch that features games against the three teams ahead of them in the standings and three road games among those five.

The Knights will face off against Hamline, which the Knights beat 66-42 back on Dec. 3, Carleton is riding a four-game winning streak and has placed itself firmly in the middle of the MIAC Playoff chase. The Knights trail league leaders Gustavus and Concordia by two games and third place St. Benedict by one game. The Knights have gotten back into the title chase by tightening up their defense, especially on the perimeter. During the five-game losing streak that preceded the four-game win streak, Carleton allowed teams to shoot nearly 40 percent from beyond the arc and gave up an average of seven 3-pointers per game. In the last four games, though, Carleton is holding teams to 27 percent on long-range shots and an average of five three-pointers. The Knights have gotten active on the glass, spotting a +4.5 rebounding margin compared to -0.4 during the losing streak.

LAST TIME OUT: CARLETON 57, ST. THOMAS 55, JAN. 21, 2006

Megan Vig tallied 17 points and 12 rebounds and made two free throws with three seconds left as Carleton rallied past St. Thomas.

UST used a 13-4 spurt to open a five-point advantage, 47-42, midway through the half, and eventually led 50-45. The Knights whittled the lead down to one over the next four minutes and had but one field goal in the final nine minutes and none over the final six, but made 8-of-12 free throws in the final 4 minutes, 19 seconds for the victory.

Hannah Oken-Berg added 12 points, seven blocked shots and six rebounds for the Knights.

Knight Notes ’n Trends

- The Knights are holding opponents to 27 percent shooting from three-point range and 34 percent overall during their four-game winning streak. During their five-game losing streak that preceded the recent win streak, foes shot 40 percent from three-point range and 48 percent from the field.
- While Carleton has five home games and four road games left in the regular season, two of the four road games are against teams in the top three in the conference standings in Concordia and St. Benedict.
- Carleton notched 300th program win with its Jan. 16 victory at St. Mary’s.
- The Knights are allowing only 50.8 points per game during the four-game winning streak.
- After allowing 34 three-pointers in its five-game losing streak, Carleton has allowed only 21 triples in its last four games, all victories.
- Carleton, which had struggled at the line prior to the St. Olaf game, making only 57 percent of its attempts, was 22-for-31 (71.0%) from the charity stripe in the Jan. 14 game against the Oles, including 18-for-24 (75.0%) in the second half. The 22 free throws marked a season-high as well.
- The Knights shot 63 free throws combined in the St. Olaf and St. Mary’s games, making 41 (665.1%). Their opponents were 39-for-48 (55.9%) in those two games. In the four-game win streak the Knights have made as many free throws (54) as their opponents have attempted (60).
- The Knights struggled offensively during their five-game losing streak, averaging 56.0 points per game and shooting only 43 percent from the floor. Their defense dropped off a bit during the losing streak, allowing nearly 66 points per game while opponents shoot nearly 48 percent from the floor and almost 40 percent from three-point range.
- The Knights ended their five-game losing streak with a Jan. 14 win at St. Olaf, their longest under head coach Tammy Metcalf-Filzen. The last time the Knights suffered through a four-game losing skid was Metcalf-Filzen’s first season, 1997-98, when she served as interim head coach. That season the Knights suffered four- and three-game losing streaks, all to MIAC foes, en route to a 11-14 mark overall, 9-13 in MIAC play. It marked the only losing season under Metcalf-Filzen, although the overall and conference win totals were the most since the 1989-90 season at the time.
- Carleton is fourth in the MIAC in three-point accuracy (35.6%) but last in three-pointers made (3.27/game). The Knights’ 9.2 attempts per game is one fewer per game than Augsburg.
- Megan Vig, Hannah Oken-Berg and Sarah Lincoln have combined for 32 of Carleton’s 40 double-figure scoring efforts. No other player has scored in double figures more than two times this season.
- Carleton’s 5.4 blocks per game is on pace to shatter the team record of 3.3 blocks per game, set in 2003-04. The Knights blocked eight shots against SMU, the third-highest total this season.
- The Knights are featuring four new starters this season, with last year’s MIAC sixth person of the year, Kari Christianson sliding into the starting lineup with senior Andrea Korb. Rookie Hannah Oken-Berg has started all 16 games while Emily Strandmark (6), Sarah Kunelius (5) and Andrea Dahl (7) have also started.
- Carleton has used four different starting line-ups in its 16 games.
- While Carleton’s 58.4 free-throw percentage has undoubtedly hurt the Knights, its foes are shooting 56.7 percent from the line.
- Carleton is attempting to become the first MIAC team to win four consecutive MIAC...

One of only three first-year players to start in collegiate debut under head coach Tammy Metcalf-Filzen... Two-time all-state pick for Rockford HS.

Scouting Hamline

The Pipers enter the second half of the MIAC slate needing to win five or six of their final nine games to qualify for the MIAC Playoffs for the first time in school history.

The Pipers haven't lost more than two in a row this season but their longest win streak is two on two different occasions. Senior Laurise Ewert leads the team in scoring (13.3 ppg), rebounding (7.5 rpg), blocked shots (1.5 bpg) and is second in steals (2.0 spg). Guards Kelly Linn and Carolyn Korchik also average double figures at 10.8 and 10.5 points per game, respectively. Both are good three-point shooters, especially Linn who connects on better than 40 percent from beyond the arc.

Hamline is a very physical team defensively and hold opponents to a league-best 37.4 percent field goal shooting. This physical play, though, leads to its opponents shooting a league-high 24 free throws per game.

Scoring Hamline

Sarah Kunelius and Sarah Lincoln came off the bench to score 13 points each as Carleton beat Hamline for the 17th straight time.

Kunelius drained 3-of-4 three-point tries and added four rebounds and three assists while Lincoln grabbed nine rebounds for the Knights. Hannah Oken-Berg added 12 points for Carleton, which shot 46 percent from the floor and outrebounded the Pipers 45-39.

Laurise Ewert paced Hamline with 11 points and seven rebounds, although the Pipers' leading scorer was 4-for-15 from the floor in the loss.

Carleton used a 21-5 run over a 10 minute stretch on either side of halftime, pushing their lead to 41-22 at the 13:18 mark in beating Hamline for the 17th straight time.
