KNIGHTS FACE LEAGUE-LEADING COBBERS

Carleton, coming off a huge comeback win over Gustavus, travels to MIAC-leading Concordia-Moorhead looking to salvage a season split with the Cobbers while remaining a game behind third-place Gustavus.

The Knights, winners of seven of their last eight games after suffering through a five-game losing streak, meet a Cobbers squad that has won seven straight games, six in MIAC play. The Cobbers currently hold a one-game lead on St. Benedict for the MIAC lead, with Gustavus two back and Carleton three.

The Cobbers lead the all-time series, 38-10, but Carleton has won in its last five trips to Memorial Auditorium and each of the last 12 meetings overall.

LAST TIME OUT: CARLETON 57, GUSTAVUS 53 ON FEB. 1, 2006

Megan Vig scored 19 points and grabbed 13 points as Carleton erased a 14-point halftime deficit by holding Gustavus to four second-half field goals in rallying past the Gusties, 57-53.

The Knights outscored the Gusties 36-18 in the second half, ended the game on a 10-3 spurt and limited the Gusties to 29 percent shooting for the game. The Gusties went without a field goal in the final 9 minutes, 21 seconds, and had only seven points during that stretch.

Anna Biwehen added 11 points for Carleton and Sarah Lincoln tallied seven points and seven rebounds.

The first half was all Gusties, as they drained eight triples and led by as many as 16 points. The Gusties still led by 10 points midway through the second half, but Lincoln and Vig scored on consecutive baskets inside. The Knights took the lead for good with less than two minutes left on a Vig free throw, and the Knights made 8-of-10 free throws down the stretch.

Knight Notes ‘n Trends

- Carleton has held its last eight opponents to less than 40 percent shooting, including three (Gustavus, Augsburg and St. Mary’s) to less than 30 percent. Fourteen times in 20 games opponents have failed to shoot better than 40 percent against the Knights.

- The Knights are only 4-5 this season when trailing at the half, but three of those four wins have come in the last 12 days. The Knights trailed St. Thomas by one at the half (W 57-55), Hamline by three (W 72-65) and Gustavus by 14 (W 75-61).

- Carleton overcame a 14-point halftime deficit for the second time in the last three years against Gustavus. In the 2004 MIAC Playoff semifinals, Carleton trailed Gustavus 39-25 at the half but rallied for a 55-52 victory. In that game the Knights held Gustavus to 13 second-half points; in Wednesday’s win Carleton allowed only 18 second-half points to the Gusties.

- Carleton blocked a conference season-high 10 shots against Augsburg on Monday night and had nine on Jan. 21 against St. Thomas. The MIAC record for most blocked shots in a single game is 13. Carleton’s 5.6 blocks per game is on pace to shatter the team record of 3.3 blocks per game set in 2003-04.

- Carleton allowed 80 points in its Jan. 28 loss at St. Benedict, marking the first time in 110 MIAC contests a Carleton opponent has scored 80 or more points in a regulation contest. St. Thomas beat the Knights, 80-62, on Jan. 17, 2003, prompting a 10-game win streak for the Knights. That season ended with Carleton upsetting the Tommies in the MIAC Playoff title game and earning the school’s first NCAA Tournament bid.

- Carleton scored 70 or more points for only the third time this season in the Jan. 25 win at Hamline. The 72-point output was the second-largest of the season as the Knights shot a season-best 52 percent from the floor.

- Carleton notched its 300th program win with its Jan. 16 victory at St. Mary’s.

- The Knights allowed only 53.6 points per game during their five-game winning streak.

- Carleton had shot 57 percent from the free-throw line prior to its recent five-game winning streak, but the Knights are 66 percent since, including a 22-for-31 (71.0%) performance in the Jan. 14 game against the Oles and a season-best 83 percent against Hamline, as the Knights made a season-high 24 free throws.

- St. Benedict shot 43 free throws on Saturday, the second-most a single opponent has ever shot against the Knights under Tammy Metcalf-Filzen. The last time the team made 40 or more free throws against the Knights under Metcalf-Filzen was in the 2002 NCAA Tournament’s second round at Chapman. St. Benedict shot 45 free throws at Claire Lynch Hall that season against the Knights.

- The Knights ended their five-game losing streak with a Jan. 14 win at St. Olaf, their longest under head coach Tammy Metcalf-Filzen. The last time the Knights suffered through a four-game losing skid was Metcalf-Filzen’s first season, 1997-98, when she served as interim head coach. That season the Knights suffered four- and three-game losing streaks, all to MIAC foes, en route to a 1-14 mark overall, 9-13 in MIAC play. It included the only losing season under Metcalf-Filzen, although the overall and conference win totals were the most since the 1989-90 season at the time.

- The Knights are featuring four new starters this season, with last year’s MIAC sixth person of the year, Kari Christianson sliding into the starting lineup with senior Andrea Korb. Rookie Hannah Oken-Berg has started all 20 games while Emily Strandmark (6), Sarah Kunelius (1) and Andrea Dahl (11) have also started.

- Carleton may use its fifth different starting line-up of the season in Saturday’s game at Concordia-Moorhead. The Knights have used four different starting line-ups in its 20 previous games.

- Carleton is attempting to become the first MIAC team to win four consecutive MIAC regular-season titles. St. Thomas won three straight from 1995-98, St. Benedict took

Scouting Concordia

The Cobbers, seeking to finish fourth in the MIAC preseason coaches poll after losing two-time MIAC most valuable player Mandy Pearson to graduation, instead has rocketed to the top of the standings. A win over Carleton could be the last stumbling block towards the Cobbers’ first MIAC title since 1989-90.

Concordia, which has won seven straight and 10 of their last 11 dating back to the first meeting with Carleton, has keyed on the emergence of sophomore posting Megan Hageman. She paces the team in scoring (15.9 ppg), rebounding (6.8 rpg) and shooting (56.3%). Balancing Hageman’s inside presence is junior sharpshooter Anne Keeley, who averages 12.1 points per game and knocks down 37 percent of her long-range attempts. Too Elhieri has also posted a solid senior campaign, averaging 8.3 points and 6.8 rebounds per game.

The Cobbers are a bit like Carleton in the fact that they aren’t an offensive machine, instead relying on solid defense. The Cobbers rank second in scoring defense and third in field-goal percentage defense. The Cobbers shot the three-ball well (35 percent) and defend it well (31 percent by foes). The Cobbers also thrive on the glass, pacing the MIAC in rebounding margin (+1.1).

Last Time Out: Concordia 55, at Carleton 53

Hannah Oken-Berg scored 15 points, grabbed seven rebounds and blocked a school-record eight shots, but Carleton’s backcourt managed only seven points as the Knights fell to Concordia-Moorhead, 65-53.

Jessica Heintz scored 20 points, going 4-for-5 from three-point range, and Anne Keeley added 17 points for the Cobbers, who made nine first-half 3-pointers.

The Cobbers scored only three points in the first half, turning a 12-3 deficit into a 22-14 lead. All nine of Concordia’s first-half field goals were from beyond the arc.

Megan Vig added 14 points and seven rebounds for the Knights (5-5, 3-3 MIAC), who lost for the fourth straight time. The Knights grabbed the early nine-point lead by connecting on five of their first eight shots, but they made only five of their next 11 in trailing, 30-23, at the half.

The Knights pulled with three with 8 minutes, 35 seconds, but the Cobbers used a 10-3 spurt over a five-minute stretch to seal the victory.

The game basically hinged on shooting, and more precisely outside shooting as the Cobbers made 10 of 19 from three-point range and the Knights managed only 2-for-8 from beyond the arc. Carleton’s frontcourt accounted for 46 of the team’s 53 points.
