Carleton College
Summer Writing Program
July 6-25, 2003

CONTRACT OF ATTENDANCE AND CAMPUS LIVING RULES
Completion of this form is mandatory for student application and participation in the program

The Carleton Summer Writing Program has college-level academic expectations. Reading and writing assignments will be equal to what you might find in a rigorous academic program.

Our expectations about student behavior, however, in the dormitories and in relation to program staff and to one another, are more like those of a private preparatory school. Because most students in the program are between 15 and 18, the adults directing the program are considered in loco parentis—in place of your parents. It is necessary to adhere to the following rules because of the brevity of the program and the need to have participants fresh and rested to do good work on papers in class.

Summer Writing Program Rules

The Summer Writing Program is a residential program that requires full-time residence at the College, including weekends, for the duration of the program. Students are required to remain on campus and in the surrounding Northfield area for the entire program. Only in cases of emergency, with the approval of the program director and parental clearance, may students take time away from the program.

Weekend activities such as field trips to a play or concert and to the Mall of America are considered part of the program even for all students. No exceptions will be made.

Quiet hours in the dormitories begin at 10 p.m. Sunday through Thursday, and at midnight on Friday and Saturday. The following hours and curfews will be maintained:

We are obligated to obey the curfew laws established by the City of Northfield. This law prohibits minors from being out of their residences after midnight.

Men and women live in separate dormitories. Students have access only to their assigned dorms. In the dormitories, the women’s floors are for women only, and the men’s floors are for men only.

There is to be no use of alcohol or drugs during the program. Students found with those substances, or found attempting to purchase and/or use such substances, will be immediately dismissed from the program.

Smoking is not allowed in dorm rooms, hallways, lounges, classroom buildings, or in the library. Food and drink are forbidden in the library.

Cell phones may not be used during classes and other organized activities.

If you bring a car to the Summer Writing Program, it must be left parked in the designated area throughout the program. All car keys must be given to the director of activities and residential life for the duration of the program. No one may drive or ride in cars brought to campus by program participants for the duration of the program.

Nonprogram participants who would like to visit program participants can do so during designated visiting hours, generally on Sunday and Thursday afternoons.

We have read, discussed, and agree to the above.
