Budapest Workshop on Behavioral Economics

Central European University
Branco Weiss Laboratory
Budapest, July 5 – 10, 2004

Call for Applications

The Central European University is inviting applications for the second Budapest Workshop on Behavioral Economics organized by Armin Falk (IZA/University of Bonn). The seminar takes place in Budapest, July 5 – 10, 2004. The aim of this workshop is to bring together leading experts of the field with interested graduate students from economics and psychology.

The lecturers are:

Roland Benabou
(Princeton University)

Colin Camerer
(Caltech)

Armin Falk
(IZA/University of Bonn)

Drazen Prelec
(MIT)

The speakers will give lectures but there will also be room for discussion and a poster-session for participants. Graduate students in economics and psychology are cordially invited to send their applications to the local organizers:

CEU
Branco Weiss Laboratory
Nador u. 9
1051 Budapest
Hungary

Only printed and posted applications will be considered. Questions and inquiries can be sent to Eva Dotzi (CEU) by email: behavecon@ceu.hu. More information about the previous workshop and the Branco Weiss Laboratory are available at www.hc.ceu.hu

Applications must include a CV, a brief statement describing research interests and achievements and one letter of recommendation. Deadline for the application is March 31, 2004. During the summer school all students are offered free accommodation (including breakfast and lunch). In addition, a limited number of grants are available to cover travel expenses. Students who cannot cover travel expenses by their own funds can apply for a CEU travel grant by indicating this in their application letter. Applying for travel grant requires an additional letter of recommendation from the relevant department of their university.