As a nontraditional undergraduate student, I worked as a peer mentor for a Latinx resource center at Colorado State University. I also worked as a financial aid counselor for 4 years as an undergraduate at Colorado State and my first year as a graduate student at Iowa State. During my second year of graduate school, I worked in the Student Support Services (TRIO) office as an academic coach. I worked 3 years as a Residence Life Coordinator (Hall Director) at Grinnell College in central Iowa and worked as an academic coach through the academic advising office. Most recently, I worked as a Scholar Advisor for Wallin Education Partners. I am looking forward to using these experiences in my new role as the Program Director of Student Engagement for the Career Center.

I truly have missed the close knit community and the many intersecting paths with phenomenal students and colleagues that small, private, liberal arts colleges provide.

One main responsibility of mine at Carleton is supervising the Student Career Advisors (SCAs). I will also work directly with TRIO, Posse, and other student groups and campus offices and will co-facilitate the Gatyussy Leadership Retreat.

I am very into sports and fitness! I am very into sports and fitness! I love to hike with my wife and puppy! explore the countless hiking trails and parks, and I also like to run and listen and support others. CAVE, 8:30pm and sexuality. All Carleton community members are welcome to join us at this open mic to share their stories or listen and support others. CAVE, 8:30pm.

Live at Sayles featuring Scatter Their Own – Thursday, October 13 Sayles Great Space, 12-1pm.

Green Dot Training – Monday, October 17

This 8-hour interactive training for students is designed to equip them with the necessary connections, knowledge and skills to increase their proactive and reactive bystander behaviors. Please encourage students to register for this training at go.carleton.edu/greendot.

Student Flu Shot Clinics – Wednesday & Thursday, October 19 & 20

Students can stop in the Great Hall on Wednesday from 2-6pm and Thursday from 3-7pm to get vaccinated for the upcoming flu season.

TRIO’s CLASS ACT – Friday, October 21

As part of TRIO Awareness Week, join us for CLASS Act from 4-6pm in Great Hall. Open to all faculty, staff, and students. Dinner Provided.

Mental Health First Aid Training for Students – Sunday, October 23 12-8pm

This 8-hour training for students will give participants the skills to help someone developing mental health challenges experience or a mental health crisis. To register, contact Janet Lewis Muth (jlewismuth x5246).

Gabe Barela
Program Director
for Student Engagement
Career Center

As I mentioned during the all staff meeting, each day offers moments to think about self-care. We certainly don’t always get it right. There always seems to be a meeting or event to attend, a phone call we should take, or a game to take the kids to. Clearly, the pace of our lives leaves a lot of room for improvement. Janet Muth, our new director of Health Promotion, often asks what it takes to be a flourishing community. What makes for a healthy community? These are questions we should definitely ask each other and our- selves.

Happy October.

Carolyn

Vice President for Student Life and Dean of Students
Carolyn H. Livingston

Division of Student Life Newsletter
October 2016

UPCOMING EVENTS

- Latino Heritage Convocation: Julissa Arce—October 7
  Skinner Memorial Chapel, 10:50am
- Transagenda Screening & Talkback—Saturday, October 8
  "The stories of LGBTQI homeless youth in the Twin Cities." Following a screening of the film, there will be a talk back with the filmmakers. Weitz Cinema, 4:30-6:30pm
- Unitarian Universalist National Coming Out Day Service and Celebration—Sunday, October 9
  Skinner Memorial Chapel, 11:00am
- Telling our Journeys Panel—Tuesday, October 11
  Formally titled National Coming Out week, the GSC is sponsoring a luncheon at noon in the Great Hall.
- Chili Night—Wednesday, October 12
  Weitz 236, 6:00pm
- Telling our Journeys Open Mic Night—Wednesday, October 12
  The GSC is hosting a student-centered event where participants can share their stories as they relate to gender and sexuality. All Carleton community members are welcome to join us at this open mic to share their stories or listen and support others. CAVE, 8:30pm
- Live at Sayles featuring Scatter Their Own – Thursday, October 13
  Sayles Great Space, 12-1pm.
- Green Dot Training—Monday, October 17
  This six-hour interactive training for students is designed to equip them with the necessary connections, knowledge and skills to increase their proactive and reactive bystander behaviors. Please encourage students to register for this training at go.carleton.edu/greendot.
- Student Flu Shot Clinics—Wednesday & Thursday, October 19 & 20
  Students can stop in the Great Hall on Wednesday from 2-6pm and Thursday from 3-7pm to get vaccinated for the upcoming flu season.
- TRIO’s CLASS ACT—Friday, October 21
  As part of TRIO Awareness Week, join us for CLASS Act from 4-6pm in Great Hall. Open to all faculty, staff, and students. Dinner Provided.
- Mental Health First Aid Training for Students—Sunday, October 23 12-8pm
  This 8-hour training for students will give participants the skills to help someone developing a mental health challenge or experiencing a mental health crisis. To register, contact Janet Lewis Muth (jlewismuth x5246).

GREEN DOT AT CARLETON

Green Dot is a national movement that seeks to reduce instances of stalking, intimate partner violence, and sexual misconduct by providing students with the tools to recognize early precursors and ways to intervene in situations involving these types of power-based violence. These incidents of violence are called “red dots,” or a single choice made by someone in order to harm another. Green dots are introduced as reactive or proactive ways to prevent these incidents of violence from occurring on campus.

In our trainings, we equip students with strategies of intervention that match their individual needs and provide them with options for intervention regardless of their barriers. The Green Dot team at Carleton provides 6-hour bystander intervention trainings and 1-hour overviews for faculty and staff are interested in learning more about Green Dot.

Upcoming Training for Students
Midterm Break: Monday, October 17
9am – 4pm, Weitz 236
6-Hour Bystander Intervention

Upcoming Training for Faculty/Staff
Midterm Break: Monday, October 17
12pm – 1pm, Weitz 235
1-Hour Green Dot Overview

A Message from the Dean

Dear Colleagues,

As you know, the last few weeks have been difficult. Tragically, we lost Sidharth (Sid) Ramakrishnan. During this difficult time, it has been comforting to be reminded of the deep well of caring that exists within the Carleton community. It has also been reassuring that so many of our alumni, parents, and friends have reached out to offer support, as well.

This past week was a keen reminder of the power of the Cannon River, which displaced some of our students, who, thankfully, have returned to their campus homes. I know many of you were here in Northfield during the last flooding in 2010, but this was a completely new experience for me. In the South, we’d often pray for rain because of drought. I think I am okay with not having a little rain right now.

As I mentioned during the all-staff meeting, each day offers moments to think about self-care. We certainly don’t always get it right. There always seems to be a meeting or event to attend, a phone
Call Home

A PLACE TO CALL HOME
Disability Services, previously housed within SHAC, is now located in Burton Hall 03. The addition of another staff person brought the need for a larger space and Burton 03 provides that room for a student work/reception area as well. In addition to some expanding work on academic accommodations, Disability Services has now become the central hub for accommodations previously managed in other departments. Housing, meal, and physical education accommodations are now managed in our office. Chris Dallager is receiving the accommodation requests in those areas, while Andy Christensen continues to work on foreign language accommodation concerns.
Disability Services is now working closely with Information Technology Services on increasing captioning of media at Carleton. Also, for the first time, Carleton College is a Workforce Recruitment Program (WRP) school. WRP is a federal government program aimed at bringing increased employment opportunities for college students with disabilities. Students interested in participating in WRP will need to register with our office by mid-October. We are also looking at establishing a school chapter of the College Diabetes Network as well as College Autism Spectrum to support students.

Andy Christensen and Chris Dallager are both available to work with students already registered with the disability office or those interested in exploring if accommodations may be available.

DEPARTMENT UPDATES

The Academic Support Center trained a record number of new prefects, who are supporting students in courses ranging from biochemistry to principles of macroeconomics to methods of political research. Consciousness (and nervous) students are already making use of the Math Skills Center and the Writing Center. And our large-format term calendars (free for the taking in the Writing Center on 4th Level) have been flying out the door!

TRIO welcomed new and returning students with an ice cream social, followed by our First Year Retreat on 2nd Saturday. Thanks to all who attended or assisted with these events! We’re now focused on TRIO Awareness Week, culminating in our first Class Act of the year on Friday, October 21.

Student Health and Counseling is pleased to announce the launch of two new offerings happening at SHAC this fall! "Expressive Art" Group meets Thursdays 3:30-5:00 pm and the "You're Reliant Self" workshop series is held Tuesdays 5:10-6:00 pm (see SHAC webpage for details). As it starts to get darker earlier, remember that we offer light therapy boxes as well as appointments to discuss how to fend off the blues.

Residential Life is settling into the full term as RAs continue to help students become acclimated to their floor communities and the overall Carleton community. The RAs offer programming related to community building, diversity, and other educational opportunities outside of the classroom both on their own and through collaboration with other offices. We are also continuing to more fully develop our themed housing areas through a re-imagined house manager position and are excited to focus some assessment efforts in this area.

The GSC was excited to welcome back so many students at our annual Rainbow Reception and want to thank everyone who volunteered or assisted with CarTalk: Consent, Healthy Sexuality and Relationships. October marks the beginning of our annual Telling Our Journeys events (formally titled National Coming Out Week) and we are excited to see faculty/staff participation at our Faculty/Staff Luncheon on October 11. We have a full lineup of events including an open mic night, film screening, and Chapel service. Visit go.carleton.edu/gsc for more information.

With many organizations having application deadlines in the fall for both job and internship, the Career Center has been keeping busy with making sure students are aware of upcoming deadlines and assisting them with strategies for getting noticed by hiring managers. We have also been hard at work assisting students with preparing their externship applications for the October 3 deadline.

OHL had its annual block party 1st week Saturday and had a great turn out. Cultural groups, offices, and houses combined to present 15 different options for students to participate in, including food, information, henna and more. OHL is currently gearing up for our Leadership retreat which will happen 3rd weekend. So far 89 students and OHL peer leaders are registered to attend, as well as a wide variety of faculty and staff.

The Student Activities Office (SAO) has had a busy start to fall term. SAO has worked with the Carleton Student Association (CSA) Officers to train student organization leaders for the start of the year on topics such as managing a student organization, requesting funding, and planning an event. SAO also coordinated the student organization fair which took place on first Friday and had over 220 involvement opportunities represented.
The Academic Support Center trained a record number of new prefects, who are supporting students in courses ranging from biochemistry to principles of macroeconomics to methods of political research. Conscientious (and nervous) students are already making use of the Math Skills Center and the Writing Center. And our large-format term calendars (free for the taking in the Writing Center on 4th Libs) have been flying off the door!

TRIO welcomed new and returning students with an ice cream social, followed by our First Year Retreat on 2nd Saturday. Thanks to all who attended or assisted with these events! We're now focused on TRIO Awareness Week, culminating in our first Class Act of the year on Friday, October 21.

Student Health and Counseling is pleased to announce the launch of two new offerings happening at SHAC this fall! "Expressive Art" Group meets Thursdays 3:30-5:00 pm and the "Your Reliant Self" workshop series is held Tuesdays 5:10-6:00 pm (see SHAC webpage for details). As it starts to get darker earlier, remember that we offer light therapy boxes as well as appointments to discuss how to fend off the blues!

Residential Life is settling into the full term as RA's continue to help students become acclimated to their floor communities and the overall Carleton community. The RA's offer programming related to community building, diversity, and other educational opportunities outside of the classroom both on their own and through collaboration with other offices. We are also continuing to more fully develop our themed housing areas through a re-imagined house manager position and are excited to focus some assessment efforts in this area.

The GSC was excited to welcome back so many students at our annual Rainbow Reception and want to thank everyone who volunteered or assisted with CampTalk: Consent, Healthy Sexuality and Relationships. October marks the beginning of our annual Telling Our Journeys events (formally titled National Coming Out Week) and we are excited to see faculty/staff participation at our Faculty/Staff Luncheon on October 11. We have a full lineup of events including an open mic night, film screening, and Chapel service. Visit go.carleton.edu/gsc for more information.

With many organizations having application deadlines in the fall for both job and internships, the Career Center has been keeping busy with making sure students are aware of upcoming deadlines and assisting them with strategies for getting noticed by hiring managers. We have also been hard at work assisting students with preparing their externship applications for the October 3 deadline.

OHL had its annual block party 1st week Saturday and had a great turn out. Cultural groups, offices, and houses combined to present 15 different options for students to participate in, including food, information, henna and more. OHL is currently gearing up for our Leadership retreat which will happen 3rd weekend. So far 89 students and OHL peer leaders are registered to attend, as well as a wide variety of faculty and staff.

The Student Activities Office (SAO) has had a busy start to fall term. SAO has worked with the Carleton Student Association (CSA) Officers to train student organization leaders for the start of the year on topics such as managing a student organization, requesting funding, and planning an event. SAO also coordinated the student organization fair which took place on first Friday and had over 220 involvement opportunities represented.
Division of Student Life Newsletter
October 2016 Newsletter

UPCOMING EVENTS

- Latino Heritage Convocation: Julissa Arce—October 7
  Skinner Memorial Chapel, 10:50am
- Transagenda Screening & Talkback—Saturday, October 8
  “The stories of LGBTQI homeless youth in the Twin Cities.” Following a screening of the film, there will be a talk back with the filmmakers. Weitz Cinemas, 4:30-6:30pm
- Unitarian Universalist National Coming Out Day Service and Celebration-Sunday, October 9
  Skinner Memorial Chapel, 11:00am
- Telling our Journeys Panel—Tuesday, October 11
  Formally titled National Coming Out week, the GSC is sponsoring a luncheon at noon in the Great Hall.
- Chili Night—Wednesday, October 12
  Weitz 236, 6:00pm
- Telling our Journeys Open Mic Night—Wednesday, October 12
  The GSC is hosting a student-centered event where participants can share their stories as they relate to gender and sexuality. All Carleton community members are welcome to join us at this open mic to share their stories or listen and support others. CAVE, 8:30pm
- Live at Sayles featuring Scatter Their Own—Thursday, October 13
  Sayles Great Space, 12-1pm
- Green Dot Training—Monday, October 17
  This six-hour interactive training for students is designed to equip them with the necessary connections, knowledge and skills to increase their proactive and reactive bystander behaviors. Please encourage students to register for this training at gp.carleton.edu/greendot
- Student Flu Shot Clinics—Wednesday & Thursday, October 19 & 20
  Students can stop in the Great Hall on Wednesday from 2-6pm and Thursday from 3-7pm to get vaccinated for the upcoming flu season.
- TRIO’s CLASS ACT—Friday, October 21
  As part of TRIO Awareness Week, join us for Class Act from 4-30pm in Great Hall. Open to all faculty, staff, and students. Dinner Provided.
- Mental Health First Aid Training for Students-Sunday, October 23 12-8pm
  This 8-hour training for students will give participants the skills to help someone developing a mental health challenge or experiencing a mental health crisis. To register, contact Janet Lewis Muth (jlewismuth x5246).

GREEN DOT AT CARLETON

Green Dot is a national movement that seeks to reduce instances of stalking, intimate partner violence, and sexual misconduct by providing students with the tools to recognize early precursors and ways to intervene in situations involving these types of power-based violence. These incidents of violence are called “red dots,” or a single choice made by someone in order to harm another. Green dots are introduced as reactive or proactive ways to prevent these incidents of violence from occurring on campus.

In our trainings, we equip students with strategies of intervention that match their individual needs and provide them with options for intervention regardless of their barriers. The Green Dot team at Carleton provides 8-hour bystander intervention trainings and 1-hour overviews for faculty and staff interested in learning more about Green Dot.

Division of Student Life Newsletter
October 2016

Dear Colleagues,

As you know, the last few weeks have been difficult. Tragically, we lost Sidharth (Sid) Ramakrishnan. During this difficult time, it has been comforting to be reminded of the deep well of caring that exists within the Carleton community. It has also been reassuring that so many of our alumni, parents, and friends have reached out to offer support, as well.

This past week was a keen reminder of the power of the Cannon River, which displaced some of our students, who, thankfully, have returned to their campus homes. I know many of you were here in Northfield during the last flooding in 2010, but this was a completely new experience for me. In the South, we’d often pray for rain because of drought. I think I am okay with not having a little rain right now.

As I mentioned during the all-staff meeting, each day offers moments to think about self-care. We certainly don’t always get it right. There always seems to be a meeting or event to attend, a phone call we should take, or a game to take the kids to. Clearly, the pace of our lives leaves a lot of room for improvement.

Janet Muth, our new director of Health Promotion, often asks what it takes to be a flourishing community. What makes for a healthy community? These are questions we should definitely ask each other and ourselves.

Happy October,
Carolyn
Vice President for Student Life and Dean of Students
Carolyn H. Livingston