MICROECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

WINTER BREAK 2019
BANGLADESH

OFF-CAMPUS STUDIES PROGRAMS
507-222-4332 • go.carleton.edu/ocs
OVERVIEW
The Bangladesh trip and its coursework examines and evaluates a modern understanding of microeconomic development as it relates to—among other things—poverty alleviation, microfinance, rural-urban migration, population control, mutual insurance, social businesses, and women’s rights.

ESSENTIALS
• Dates: Program will take place during late November or the first part of December. Specific dates will be communicated to program participants.
• Finances: Students are responsible for the cost of round-trip transportation to Bangladesh, visas, course books, and additional personal expenses.

ACADEMICS
• Director: Faress Bhuiyan, Associate Professor of Economics
• Courses:
  • ECON 240: Microeconomics of Development
  • ECON 201: Analysis of Microeconomic Development Models
• Prerequisites: Students are required to have taken ECON 111: Principles of Microeconomics.

PROGRAM FEATURES
• Excursions: Site visits to development organizations—BRAC, Grameen Foundation, and USAID—will offer students an opportunity to meet with villagers (the target clienteles) and with development workers of all ranks including high-level officials such as Nobel Laureate Professor Mohammed Yunus (subject to his availability).
• Housing: Students will stay in hotels.

APPLICATION
• To apply: Visit go.carleton.edu/ocs
• Deadline: Monday, April 15, 2019