Graduate Programs in History at USF: M.A. & Ph.D.

The Department of History at the University of South Florida in Tampa offers two graduate degree programs. Students may enroll in an enriching program of coursework and directed research leading either to a Master of Arts (M.A.) or a Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.). Areas of specialization cover a number of fields, including Colonial through Modern US, US in the World, the Ancient World, Medieval Worlds, Early Modern Worlds, Modern Europe, and Latin America. Our faculty also supports concentrations in thematic fields of research such as gender & sexuality, race & ethnicity, regional history, public history, science & medicine, and comparative empires.

Our Ph.D. program features an innovative model of doctoral education designed to ensure broad interdisciplinary connections with the related fields of Anthropology, English, Geography, Sociology, Political Science, and International Relations. The department’s faculty creates a dynamic learning environment that fosters close interaction between students and teachers. Our seminar-based curriculum ensures that each student in the graduate program receives individual attention and guidance. We pride ourselves on training students to be scholars and teachers at all levels of education, while also offering preparation for careers outside academia in government agencies, historical societies, libraries, and museums.

Application for Admission Deadline: January 15th

Financial Aid:
USF offers highly competitive funding opportunities at the M.A. and Ph.D. levels:
Qualified M.A. students may apply for a funding package that includes a $10,500 yearly stipend plus tuition. Students admitted to the Ph.D. program will receive a four-year funding package that includes a $15,000 yearly stipend plus tuition.

For additional information, please contact:
Jennifer Knight,
Graduate Program Advisor
jlknight@usf.edu

Follow us on facebook @ www.facebook.com/historyusf

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH FLORIDA
Department of History
http://history.usf.edu
4202 E. Fowler Ave. SOC 107, Tampa, FL 33620
Graduate Programs in History at USF: M.A. & Ph.D.

The Department of History at the University of South Florida features faculty with specializations in the following fields (click any name for additional information):

Golfo Alexopoulos, Assoc. Chair - Modern Russia and the Soviet Union
John Belohlavek - 19th-Century Political and Diplomatic History
Giovanna Benadusi - Renaissance and Early Modern Italy
Kees Boterbloem - Russian and Soviet History, European Empires
Brian Connolly - 19th-Century U.S., Family and Sexuality
Michael Decker, Department Chair - Byzantium, Economy and Society of Late Antiquity
Darcie Fontaine - Modern Europe, French Colonialism
John Henry Gonzalez - Caribbean & South Atlantic History, Haiti
Julia Irwin - U.S. in the World, Gilded Age and Progressive Era, History of Medicine and Science
David Johnson - 20th-Century U.S., Gender and Sexuality, the Cold War
Jennifer Knight - Celtic History, Early Medieval Europe
Anne Koenig - Late Medieval Germany, Science and Medicine
Julie Langford, Graduate Director - Roman Empire, Roman Literature and Culture
Philip Levy - Early America, Historical Archaeology, Public History
William Murray - Ancient Greece and Rome, Classical Archaeology
Adriana Novoa - Argentina, Gender, Film and Culture, Darwinism, History of Science
Fraser Ottanelli - 20th-Century U.S. Immigration and Labor History, Italian Diaspora
Stephen Prince - Modern U.S. South, 19th-Century U.S., Public History and Historical Memory
Frances Ramos - Colonial Latin America, Mexican History
Graydon Tunstall - World War I, Military History, Executive Director of Phi Alpha Theta

For a full list of admission requirements, and additional information about the program, please visit the departmental website at: http://history.usf.edu
For additional information, please contact:
Jennifer Knight, Graduate Program Advisor, jlknight@usf.edu
University of South Florida, Department of History
4202 East Fowler Ave., SOC 107, Tampa, FL 33620