

CARLETON COLLEGE PARTICIPATION IN OFF-CAMPUS STUDIES

CLASS OF 2010

The 493 members of the class of 2010 defined as June graduates and 12-term seniors, provide an interesting profile of off-campus studies at Carleton:

- 74% of the class of 2010 studied off-campus.
- 364 individuals studied 467 times off-campus during their 4 years or twelve terms.
- 354 students earned off-campus study credit outside the United States 441 times.
- Students participated in 149 different off-campus programs in 57 different countries.

The attached tables, combined with the annual report “2009-10 Participation in Off-Campus Studies, Academic Year,” offer a bifocal view of Carleton Off-Campus Studies. Several interesting highlights include:

- 74% of the 364 students participated in one program, while 23% participated in two, and 3% studied off-campus three times.
- Participation by program length was 53% for one term in length (10 weeks), 33% for one semester (15 weeks), 13% for less than one term (usually summer or winter break programs), and 1% for academic year-long programs (9+ months).
- 59% of the members of the Class of 2010 who studied off-campus went on Carleton off-campus seminars taught by Carleton faculty for Carleton students. 4% of those who studied off-campus participated in consortium programs (ACM, AKP, HECUA, etc.), and 37% of the class enrolled in programs sponsored by other U.S. and foreign educational institutions.
- 59% of the class members studied off-campus as juniors. 25% studied off-campus as sophomores, and 16% studied off-campus as seniors.
- 57% of the participants were women and 43% were men.
- 100% of these majors participated in off-campus studies:

African/African American Studies
French & Francophone Studies
Russian

Art History
Latin American Studies
Spanish

Asian Studies
Music
Theater

- Over 70% of these majors studied off-campus:

American Studies
Economics
Religion

Biology
English
Studio Art

Cinema & Media Studies
Political Science

This report covers students who earned Carleton credit on off-campus study programs. Credit and non-credit internships, geology, biology and archeology field camps, and volunteer experiences elsewhere provided additional off-campus study opportunities for the members of the class of 2010.
