POS 339: International Organizations

Carleton College - Fall Term 2006

Instructor: Noha Shawki
E-mail Address: nshawki@carleton.edu
Phone number: 646-7848
Office: Willis Hall 417
Office Hours: Tuesday 3:15-4:15 pm; Wednesday 3:00-4:00 pm and by appointment

Course Description
This course focuses on international organizations (IOs) and their role in international relations and global governance. It covers both intergovernmental organizations (IGOs) and nongovernmental organizations (NGOs). We will read theoretical literature on IOs as well as case studies of specific organizations and specific issue areas (e.g. human rights; international development) in which IOs are active. Special attention will be given to the UN system. Other international organizations covered include The Bretton Woods institutions and the International Criminal Court.

Course Policies and Expectations
The course will combine reading assignments, writing assignments, and a requirement to attend class and participate regularly. The purpose of including different types of assignments/requirements is to accommodate different learning styles.

It is essential that you complete all of the assigned readings. You may find some of the assigned readings quite challenging. I will go over these readings in class and help you grasp them. Please do not hesitate to ask questions about any materials you have difficulties with.

The success of the class and your learning will to a large extent depend on your careful reading of all assigned materials and literature prior to our class meetings and on your eagerness to participate in class discussions.

Since class participation will be a very important component of the class, it is essential that all class discussions, debates and other activities take place in a very respectful and civil manner. We will be discussing very controversial and contentious issues throughout the term and there will inevitably be disagreements. For this reason it is important to maintain a civil classroom environment that is conducive to fruitful debates. Incivility in the classroom will not be tolerated. It is also essential that all readings be completed prior to the class meetings in which they will be discussed.

Late assignments will be penalized. You will lose half a letter grade for each day your assignment is late up to a maximum of two letter grades, which means that it is ALWAYS worth it to submit a late paper. The only time when late assignments will be accepted without penalty is in the case of illness; in that case you will need to provide a note from your doctor.

Statement on Plagiarism and Academic Dishonesty:
While incorporating the thoughts of others into your work is expected, you must be sure to give credit where it is due. Any quotations must be clearly marked and correctly cited, and ideas, information or concepts you have gotten from the work of others must also be cited. If you are unsure how to properly cite sources in your work see me, and I will be glad to help you. Presenting the work of others as your own (without citation) is plagiarism – that is, cheating, and will result in a failing grade for the course.

Accommodation of Special Needs:
If you have a documented physical or learning disability that will affect your ability to complete the assignments in this class in a timely manner, I will make accommodations for you. If you need extra time or assistance in completing assignments, you must tell me during the first week of class.

Assignments and Grades
The final grade in this class will be based on four types of assignments/requirements. 25% of the final grade will be based on a class presentation and a written report on the topic of the presentation. You will also be asked to write a critical review once during the term (20% of the final grade) and a 20-25 page research paper (35% of the final grade). Finally, 20% of the final grade will be based on class participation.

Here is a list of the requirements and percentages of the final grade:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Requirement</th>
<th>Points</th>
<th>Percentage of Final Grade</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Class Participation</td>
<td>200</td>
<td>20%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Critical Review</td>
<td>200</td>
<td>20%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Presentation and report</td>
<td>250</td>
<td>25%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Final Paper</td>
<td>350</td>
<td>35%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>1000</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Here is a description of each of these requirements:

Participation
This is a discussion-based seminar that requires your active participation in class discussions. It is essential that you complete all readings prior to coming to class. 20% of the final grade will be based on participation. This portion of the grade is not intended to be simply an attendance grade; rather, it will be based on the performance of students in class discussions and the quality of their contribution to the discussions.

Several times during the term, I will be asking you to bring news stories to class and to present them and comment on their relevance to the issues we will be discussing during the term (see schedule below). This will help us get a sense of the wide range of issues that pertain to the topic of the course and will introduce us to some of the many “real world” examples that illustrate the concepts and arguments we will discuss in class. Part of your participation grade will be based on your presentation of the news stories to the class.

Critical Review

Critical reviews are designed to provide overviews on the assigned literature and to raise some questions for discussion. Each student will be responsible for writing one 3-4 page review during the term and will briefly present it in class in order to initiate discussion. The quality of the discussions will depend in part on the quality of these reviews, and I expect you to devote time and attention to them and to e-mail them to me at least 24 hours prior to the class meeting in which they are due.

As far as the content of the reviews is concerned, the reviews should cover four areas:

1. The first part of the review should be a summary of the main ideas, concepts and arguments presented in the assigned readings. You need not and should not summarize each single piece of literature assigned; you should try and provide a general summary of all assigned materials focusing on their common themes. This part of the review should be not longer than 1 page.

2. The second part of the review should place the readings in a broader context and establish the connection between the topics that they focus on and the general topic of the class or other issues we have discussed. Some of the questions you could address include: What new perspectives and insights are presented in the readings? What are the main important points raised in the readings? How do the readings help us better understand and explain the role of international organizations?

3. The third part of the review should be concerned with generating discussion questions. In this part you should present some important questions that the assigned readings raised for you and that you would like to discuss in class. You could also generate a controversial statement based on the readings that the class can debate.

Presentation and Report

Several class presentations on selected topics are scheduled for some of our class meetings. These presentations serve as case studies that illustrate the topics and issues we discuss in class. I will ask each of you to sign up for a presentation at the beginning of the second class meeting of the term. Each presentation will be prepared and given by one or two students. These presentations should not be longer than 15-20 minutes and are to be based on a 6-8 page written report (10-12 pages if written by two people). Please turn in a copy of the report the day that you are giving your presentation. I ask that you drop by and talk with me about your presentation/report at least two weeks beforehand. I will help you find good sources and get started. The grade will be based on the written report and the oral presentation.

Paper
A research paper of about 20-25 pages is a central requirement of this seminar. You can write your paper on any topic related to the general topic of the course. While the exact structure of the papers will vary depending on the paper topic, all papers should include the following:

1. An introduction that presents the research question or problem briefly and explains its importance and significance.

2. A literature review that grounds the research question/problem in the theoretical and empirical literature and develops a thesis to be explored in the analysis. You must incorporate articles from peer-reviewed political science and international relations journals into your review.

3. An analysis of the research question that is structured around the thesis developed in the literature review. This part should be the bulk of your paper.

4. A conclusion that ties together the different parts of the paper and summarizes the main points.

I will be available to talk with you individually about your papers during the term. I encourage you to discuss with me any issues related to any aspect of your paper, so please do not hesitate to drop by and talk about the paper. I also encourage you to use the services and resources offered at the Writing Center. To help you stay on track and to make sure that you will be getting feedback at the different stages of writing the paper, I ask that you do the following:

* Please submit a one-page description of your paper topic by Thursday, September 28th. If you have problems choosing a topic and/or framing and narrowing the scope of the paper, feel free to drop by in the first or second week of the term. I’m more than happy to talk with you about any ideas you may have and to brainstorm with you.

* Please submit a preliminary bibliography of scholarly publications related to your paper topic by Thursday, October 5th.

* Please submit an outline of your paper by Thursday, October 19th.

The paper is due on Tuesday, November 14th. Please bring a hard copy of your paper to class on November 14th.
Readings
We will use two books in this class.

Many of the assigned readings are in these two books. The other reading materials will be available on e-reserve.

Week 1
Tuesday, September, 12th: Introduction to the course
Discussion of the syllabus and the course content and requirements
Presentation by Kristin Partlo, Reference and Instruction Librarian (library, room 306)

Thursday, September 14th: IGOs: Theoretical Approaches
Chapter 1 and chapter 2 in The Politics of Global Governance

Week 2
Tuesday, September 19th: IGOs: Theoretical Approaches
Chapter 3 in The Politics of Global Governance

Stephen M. Walt, International Relations: One World, Many Theories, in: Foreign Policy, Spring 98, Issue 110

Thursday, September 21st: IGOs: Peace and Collective Security
Chapter 2 and chapter 3 in The United Nations and Changing World Politics

Week 3
Tuesday, September 26th: IGOs: Peace and Collective Security
Chapter 8, chapter 9 in The Politics of Global Governance

Thursday, September 28th: IGOs Peace and Collective Security
Chapter 10 in The Politics of Global Governance

Chapter 4 in The United Nations and Changing World Politics

Presentation: Current or recent UN operation

Week 4
Tuesday, October 3rd: IGOs: Human Rights and Humanitarian Affairs
Chapter 5, chapter 6 and chapter 7 in The United Nations and Changing World Politics

Please bring a news story to class today!

Thursday, October 5th: IGOS: Human Rights and Humanitarian Affairs
- Spyros Economides, The International Criminal Court: Reforming the Politics of International Justice, in: Government and Opposition 38/1, 2003, pp. 29-51

Presentation: The ICC and Uganda

Week 5
Tuesday, October 10th: IGOS: The Global Economy/Development
Chapter 11 and chapter 12 in The Politics of Global Governance

Presentation: The Bretton Woods institutions

Thursday, October 12th: IGOS: the Global Economy/Development
Chapter 13 and chapter 14 in The Politics of Global Governance

Please bring a news story to class today!

Week 6
Tuesday, October 17th: Regional Organizations

Presentation: NAFTA (or other regional organization)

Presentation: African Union (or other regional organization)

Thursday, October 19th: IGOS: Sustainability and Sustainable Development

Chapter 8 and chapter 9 in The United Nations and Changing World Politics

Week 7
Tuesday, October 24th: IGOS: Sustainability and Sustainable Development
Chapter 10 in The United Nations and Changing World Politics

Chapter 16 in The Politics of Global Governance

Please bring a news story to class today!
Thursday, October 26th: IGOs: Reform
Conclusion in The United Nations and Changing World Politics

Chapter 18 and chapter 19 in The Politics of Global Governance

Week 8

Tuesday, October 31st: NGOs: Introduction and Theoretical Approaches

Jessica T. Matthews, Power Shift, in: Foreign Affairs 76/1, 1997, pp. 50-66

P. J. Simmons, Learning to Live with NGOs, in: Foreign Policy, Fall 1998, Issue 112, pp. 82-96

Thursday, November 2nd: NGOs: Sustainability and Sustainable Development

Week 9

Tuesday, November 7th: NGOs: Development

Alan Fowler, NGDOs as a Moment in History: Beyond Aid to Social Entrepreneurship or Civic Innovation?, in: Third World Quarterly 21/4, 2000, pp. 637-654

Please bring a news story to class today!

Thursday, November 9th: NGOs: Human Rights and Humanitarian Affairs

Chapter 15 in The Politics of Global Governance

Week 10

Tuesday, November 14th: Conclusions: What have we learned?