

Language and Culture in Global Russia Moscow, Russia

SPRING SEMESTER \ TERM

CARLETON ANTIOCH
GLOBAL ENGAGEMENT

Carleton College, one of the nation's top liberal arts colleges, now operates the long-established Global Engagement programs previously offered by Antioch Education Abroad.

One North College Street
Northfield MN 55057

(507) 222-4435
global@carleton.edu

go.carleton.edu/engage

Immerse yourself in the Russian language and explore the diversity of Russophone culture in Moscow and beyond – from St. Petersburg to Siberia.

Improve your Russian language skills by studying and living at Lomonosov Moscow State University. Through readings, coursework, and travel, students explore Russia's emergence as a cultural world power and the development of—and debate over—Russian national identity.

COURSES

- Cultural Immersion: Moscow[®] (15-week program only)
- Russia's Hallowed Places
- Reading for Russia
- Novice, Intermediate, or Advanced Russian Language

CREDIT

16 semester credits

Learn more at
go.carleton.edu/globalrussia

Language and Culture in Global Russia

Moscow, Russia

Beginning in spring 2018, undergraduate students from colleges and universities across the United States are invited to participate in Language and Culture in Global Russia, a Carleton College program since 1995. Students intensively develop their Russian language skills while exploring Russian culture and history, immersing themselves in a dynamically changing country striving to redefine and reestablish itself culturally and economically.

LOCATION

The program is based in Moscow, where students study in the Philological Faculty of Lomonosov Moscow State University and live in the university's historic Stalin-period dormitory. On excursions, participants pair with Russian students to explore corners of the city often unknown even to Muscovites.

TRAVEL AND EXCURSIONS

Through a variety of field trips beyond Moscow, students explore firsthand the influences that contributed to Russia's emergence as a cultural world power. Field trips include Vladimir, Suzdal, Murom, St. Petersburg, and a 10-day venture to the Lake Baikal region, on the border with Mongolia.

LANGUAGE

Students must have completed at least two semesters of Russian language by the program start date. Russian language courses are taught entirely in Russian, while instruction for the culture courses is principally in English. Heritage students are encouraged to apply to the program. Whenever possible, accommodations will be made for heritage learners' special needs and abilities.

Learn more at
go.carleton.edu/globalrussia

Antioch Education Abroad is now Carleton Antioch Global Engagement.

Carleton College, one of the nation's top liberal arts colleges, now operates the long-established Global Engagement programs previously offered by Antioch Education Abroad. Carleton champions an interdisciplinary, liberal arts approach to learning with the highest commitment to academic excellence.

Carleton

CORE COURSES

Program participants enroll in Cultural Immersion: Moscow⁷ (15-week program only), Russia's Hallowed Places, Reading for Russia, and Novice, Intermediate, or Advanced Russian Language.

LEADERSHIP

Program director Diane Nemeč Ignashev, Class of 1941 Professor of Russian and the Liberal Arts, Carleton College, teaches Russian language, as well as Russian culture and theories of culture. Her current research focuses on Russian film, Gulag fiction, and the life and work of poet Marina Tsvetaeva. She has lived and worked in Russia for many years, holds a joint position in the Department of Discourse and Communication Studies at Moscow University, and has led twenty academic tours to Russia since 1988.

CREDIT

Students receive credit through Carleton College. 15-week semester participants enroll in 33 Carleton credits (equivalent to 16 semester credits), and 10-week quarter/term participants enroll in 18 Carleton credits.

SPRING SEMESTER/TERM

- 15-week semester (mid-February to early June)
- 10-week term (late March to early June)